The Nail Factory an Assured Certainty,

And the Los Angeles Iron and Nail Company Organized.

Prominent Business Men at the Head of the Project.

Capital Stock Five Hundred Thousand Dollars—The Ball Handsomely Set to Rolling Last Evening—The Directors and Subscribers.

About a dozen gentlemen, who represent several millions of dollars, met at the St. Elmo Hotel last night for the purpose of discussing the advisability of organizing a joint stock company for the purpose of carrying on a nail factory. F. C. Howes was chosen chairman. He called on H. A. Swift, who said:

"It is proposed to form a joint stock company in or near the city of Los Angeles, with an available capital of $200,000, to engage in the manufacture of cut nails.

"After a thorough investigation, we find that the advantages of establishing the nail business in Los Angeles is very favorable, from the following facts:

"Suitable rolling-mill and nail machinery can be purchased for half its value from firms in Massachusetts that have given up business by reason of the interstate commerce regulations and their inability to compete with the western centers of trade.

"A rolling mill and nail factory of fifty machines can be put up for $75,000, including Smith's patent regenerator gas furnaces, which will save at least 60 per cent. in coal more than any furnace in use on the Pacific coast. Another important factor is the fact that our domestic coals can be used to advantage in these furnaces, thereby saving the expense of keeping a large stock of coal on hand, besides being cheaper in price.

"Cedar River coal can be laid down at our works for $5 per net ton, as per letter of Cedar River Coal Company of June 6th. Scrap iron can be laid down in San Pedro or Ballona harbors for $27.50 per gross ton, as per statement of A. Carpenter, the largest dealer in San Francisco.

"The consumption of nails of various sizes in Southern California is about 200,000 kegs per annum, or 800 kegs for the 250 working days in the year. In Los Angeles alone 100,000 kegs per annum are disposed of.

"With the price of nails to the trade at $3.10 per keg, and the cost of scrap-iron at $27 per ton, with coal at $5 per ton, nails can be made for $2.04 per keg, and the profits on a day's work of 600 kegs would be $743.20, or 88 per cent. per annum interest on the $200,000 invested.

"Nails selling at $3.75 per keg will pay 60 per cent. on $200,000; at $2.35 per keg, the lowest price ever reached in Los Angeles, the profits would be $111,705 per annum, or 55 per cent. on the capital invested.

"The above statements have been carefully prepared, and can be proven by figures and documents in the hands of competent parties.

"Another decided advantage is the large quantities of scrap-iron that can be obtained in Southern California and in Mexico, at such prices that when converted into nails the profits on this item alone would pay a handsome profit on the capital invested.

"With the nail business in successful operation, other manufacturing enterprises would spring up on every hand. Already the large furniture manufacturing company of J. S. Bennett has made application to the projectors of the Nail Company for steam power to run their factory, which they have decided to remove to Los Angeles. At a very slight additional cost steam power could be furnished to many other manufactories, which would be a source of profit to the Nail Company, as well as a lasting benefit to the community, from the fact that it would build up a large manufacturing town, increase the value of surrounding property, and be a source of permanent prosperity.

"With the nail business established in Los Angeles, the $400,000 annually paid out for nails to manufacturers outside of Southern California would be kept in circulation among the people in Los Angeles, thereby increasing the prosperity of all.

"The financial success of the enterprise being assured, please consider the benefits that would be conferred upon any community in whose midst this enterprise was established. There would eventually be at least 150 skilled workmen, with their families, brought from the East; this would make a village of about 1000 inhabitants at once. The monthly wages of these workmen would amount to $12,000 per month, and the business community of Los Angeles would reap the benefit of this large monthly expenditure.

"Gifts of land can be had from the Southern Pacific and the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé Railroad companies, as well as the Ballona Harbor Company. There never was a better time to establish the nail business, or a time when machinery can be had as cheaply as the present time. And there is not a financial nor a business consideration but calls for the establishment of manufacturing industries in Los Angeles, and we consider the project under consideration the most likely to prove a success. In view of these facts I would most earnestly solicit an investigation into the merits of the projected enterprise by business men and capitalists who wish to invest in a safe and profitable business.

"Facts and figures have been prepared, showing every detail of the business, and there never has been an enterprise more thoroughly investigated; and we can safely say that these facts and figures cannot be successfully contradicted."

After some discussion the meeting decided to incorporate with a capital of $500,000 divided into shares of the par value of $100 each. The number of trustees shall be seven. The name is to be the Los Angeles Iron and Nail Company, and the place of business shall be Los Angeles city. The following stock was then subscribed for: John Bryson, 100 shares, $10,000; James R. Patterson, 60 shares, $6000; G. P. Clapp, 20 shares, $2000; H. A. Swift, 10 shares, $1000; J. Collins, 10 shares, $1000; W. F. Fisher, 10 shares, $1000; John I. Redick, 5 shares, $500; C. C. Reynolds, 40 shares, $4000; A. E. Pomeroy, 10 shares, $1000; F. C. Howes, 10 shares, $1000; Charles H. Towell, Sr., 30 shares, $3000; H. A. Barclay, 5 shares, $500.

The following gentlemen were elected trustees for the ensuing year: John Bryson, Joseph R. Patterson, G. P. Clapp, C. C. Reynolds, A. E. Pomeroy, F. C. Howes and Charles H. Towell, Sr. A committee consisting of Messrs. Patterson, Swift, Bryson and Redick was appointed by the chair to solicit subscriptions. The members of the new company were very enthusiastic over the success of the venture, and expect to be able, in the near future, to furnish the whole of Southern California with nails. The factory will give employment to about 450 people, and the pay-roll will amount to $12,000 per month.

The meeting adjourned to meet at the call of the chair, when the officers will be elected.

Base-Ball.

The Haverlys will arrive at 11:30 a.m. today. Incell, the celebrated pitcher, will be among the others. It was thought that Incell would not come, but a telegram received yesterday states that he will surely be along. Manager Turner has secured Hapeman, of Sacramento, to pitch Saturday's game. He leaves for this city today. These games are expected to be the most exciting and best played games ever played in Southern California. The game will be called promptly at 3 p.m. tomorrow. Police will be on the ground to preserve order and keep the crowd from interfering with the players.

Very Dainty Fingering of the Anaheim Murder.

A CIRCUS.

Lively Times in Santa Monica's City Council.

Monday is the regular meeting night for the Board of Trustees of Santa Monica, and as the meetingwas set for 8 o'clock, THE TIMES man "laid for it." President Steere was in the chair, and the whole board was present except Mr. Vawter. The meeting was held in Justice Carrillo's office, and there were probably twenty persons in the lobby, including a goodly representation of the bunco men. City Attorney Morgan sat at a table a short distance back of the Trustees. Justice Carrillo occupied a bench at the further end of the room. Before the clerk had arrived, or the board had been called to order, Justice Carrillo, who by this time was tolerably happy, arose and waddled up to a table, and addressed the board. The Justice is a Don of imposing presence and rotund proportions. The cut of his huge face, the trim of his white hair and side-whiskers would make the casual observer take him for an old English sea captain, right out of Marryatt, rather than the Spaniard he is. He informed the board that this thing of waiting from the beginning of one month to the beginning of the next for his pay was becoming very irksome. He sometimes got pretty hard up, he said, and wanted the board to allow him to take his fees out of each fine as it came in. President Steere informed him that the Board was not yet ready to hear him, and he retired to his bench.

The meeting began with a tedious auditing of a few bills. The first snag was struck in Miss Tierney's bill for $4.50 for six hats for the city police force. City Attorney Morgan and Trustee Folsom stated that the hats had been bought by the committee. President Steere declared, with a watch-dog-of-the-treasury air, that the police ought to clothe their own heads, and that they oughtn't to have uniform hats anyhow, as the toughs would thus be able to see them afar off. No such bill should be passed by his vote. Bill lost, Scott and Folsom voting aye, Steere and Lord voting no.

Then an ordinance was introduced for the establishment of Beach avenue—a driveway along the beach below high-water mark. Mr. Scott—to whose enterprise, as is well known, Santa Monica owes very much of her improvement and prosperity—explained that the object was to have that part of the beach kept clear and open to the public. At present it is shamefully encroached upon. President Steere said he wouldn't vote for the ordinance, because he didn't see how they could keep a street open under water. Trustee Ladd feared that if the ordinance were passed it might turn the United States inside out, and annihilate the United States patent line of the San Vicente Rancho—so he wouldn't vote for it. This obstruction of the wheels of progress made Mr. Scott weary, and in a tone of disgust he said: "I move we adjourn." City Attorney Morgan was up in an instant, asking that the motion be recalled, as there was very important business to come before the board. But before Mr. Scott could withdraw the motion President Steere had put and carried it, and the meeting stood adjourned.

Then Morgan was hot. Springing forward and shaking his fist at Steere, he called: "I asked you to wait, you d——d old fool! I tell you you are a d——d old old stinker! You dirty old louse! You d——d old s——b——!" He warmed up to his subject as he progressed; but Steere was evidently coy about fighting, and quietly slid out of the door and off home as fast as he could go, while Morgan recited a remarkable egg story and cursed Steere through the alphabet and back again. Trustees Folsom and Ladd also disappeared soon. Trustee Scott said: "I don't approve the language Judge Morgan used, but Steere does make me tired. He is always opposed to any progress or improvements." Carrillo, who twice during the meeting had paddled up up to the table demanding to be heard on the matter of his fees, was greatly disgusted at the sudden adjournment, and swore that he would hand in his resignation next day. This avowal disclosed a singular harmony in the Santa Monica city government. City Attorney Morgan pulled out of his pocket his written resignation, which was one of the matters he had designed to lay before the board. It was also discovered that Trustee Vawter's resignation was already in the hands of the board, and should have been acted upon that evening. The explanation given by his confréres is that he has become disgusted with the way matters potter along in the board, and the way the progressive members have to fight for every step of improvement. Trustee Scott said to THE TIMES man: "I would resign in a minute myself, I am so disgusted with having to fight old fogies, but I am in the board to help along public improvements, and feel that I ought to stay for that. I have lived in Santa Monica a good many years, and have always been working to improve the town. In 1875 I set out all these trees that line the streets. I set out 3000 of them—nearly every one there is in town. I have built the Hotel Arcadia, which is an ornament to the place, and have in many ways helped to make the town attractive. We must keep our beach clear and open to the public, and not have it covered with rubbish and shanties so that you can't get through. I built my last bath-house and steam laundry out here, and when I found that they projected a few feet over the line where we want Beach avenue, I moved them back at considerable expense, simply for the sake of keeping the beach clear."

It was reported on the streets of Santa Monica Monday night that petitions would be circulated at once asking the Trustees to remove City Attorney Morgan and City Recorder Carrillo. Whether there was anything in this threat, time will show.

Yesterday morning Steere came up to Los Angeles on the first train, and it was understood that he was going to get out a warrant for Morgan on a charge of disorderly conduct. He does not appear to have done so, however.

THE TIMES man was on hand at Justice Carrillo's office at 9 a.m. yesterday, at which hour Smiley was under bail to appear. He did not show up, however. He was also under $100 bail to appear before Justice Twitchell at 11 a.m., but had not put in an appearance at 11:15, when THE TIMES man and Constable Bellue had to fly for the train. Just what the courts of Santa Monica will get ready to do to Smiley between now and 1900, there is no possible predicting.

REDWOOD.

Its Growing Importance for Furniture and House Furbishing.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

A story is told of an American dandy exhibiting to a Russian visitor a pair of malachite sleeve-buttons, of which he was very proud, and being rather crest-fallen by the Russian's reply that he had always admired malachite, so much so that all the mantels in his house in Russia were made of it. Something analogous to this will be apt to occur when Californians visiting the East are shown our own redwood used for decorative purposes. The reply will probably be: "Yes, it is very handsome; I have a barn and a pigpen made of the same wood."

California woods have never, or until very recently, been appreciated for anything except the most rigidly utilitarian purposes. We have built our houses of redwood because it was cheap and resisted fire better than any other known wood, and sometimes a rash man has ventured to put it on the inside of his house, instead of the everlasting lath and plaster; but here conventionalism has been too strong for him, and he has straightway proceeded to cover it carefully and scrupulously with paint, and then to grain it, in an alleged imitation of oak or walnut, or something else, the result being a thing unlike any product of nature that was ever found anywhere.

The absurdity of such a thing would seem apparent, but it has become so only in the last few years. To cover up the natural grain of one wood for the purpose of imitating on its surface the grain of another is like gilding refined gold; but the style demanded graining, and so graining has had as widespread and baneful an influence on the taste of our people as the haircloth furniture and white-plastered walls.

An excerpt from the Santa Rosa Democrat shows that others appreciate the value and beauty of our redwood, if we ourselves are ignorant of it. That paper states that California redwood is much sought after at the East for various kinds of cabinet work, such as veneering, trimmings and the like, and that it is commonly known there as "French mahogany;" that it has taken to a considerable extent the place of block walnut in the manufacture of picture frames, moldings and many articles of furniture, because of its susceptibility to a high state of polish, and the beauty of its natural grain. It sells readily in Chicago at $120 per 1000 feet, and is eagerly sought after in all parts of the country where its quality is known for fine work.

This is but one of many testimonials that might be had as to the growing appreciation of the beauty of redwood and its desirability for purposes of ornamentation. It is gratifying, too, to note that a wave of good taste has swept over portions of California, and that instead of sending abroad for mahogany and toa and rosewood, and all the long list of foreign woods, we are commencing to avail ourselves of the beauties of our own woods, especially the heretofore despised redwood.

In cutting redwood trees for lumber it has been the custom for many years to cut them some six or eight feet above the ground, to avoid the swell and irregularities of the lower part of the trunk, and to get straight, clear timber. In consequence, the redwoods are full of stumps, some of them of great size; and within the past few years it has been discovered that the finest part of the tree, for ornamental purposes, is in these stumps and in the roots underlying them. From these sources is obtained the curly or birds-eye redwood, which is unequaled in beauty by any known wood. Instead of being straight, as is usually the case in wood cut from the stump higher up, the grain runs in every kind of wavy convolutions and spirals, producing the most brilliant effects of light and shade, and an endless variety of curves and twists.

The fiber of this part of the tree is harder and closer than that of the main trunk or of the limbs. The pressure of a century or two settles and packs the fiber, so that it is as hard as what is usually called hard wood, and makes it susceptible of the highest and finest polish. Nothing could be handsomer, in the line of natural woods, than some of these butt-cuts, or sections taken even from the roots themselves. It will not be strange if, before many years, the stumps and roots of the gigantic redwoods, left by the lumbermen as entirely useless, shall prove to be fully as valuable as the timber cut from them, and the second gleaning of the harvest be more profitable than the first.

Law and Lawyers.

[San Diego News.]

Mrs. Clara Foltz, editor of the Bee, herself a lawyer, has written a series of articles for her paper on law and lawyers which we have read with much interest, and no doubt the lawyers have likewise read with much profit. The public also may have an interest in the articles referred to, if only to hear what a woman knows about law.

The lady does not probably give away any of the secrets of the profession when she tells how lawyers often hammer away at the jury long after they know they have won their case, in order that their client may not think the fee too easily earned. She talks of briefs that are by no means brief, and of digests that are indigestible. She deprecates litigation, forgetting, it seems to us, that if there were no litigation there would be no lawyers, and Othello's occupation would be gone. She says there are too many lawyers—too many young men totally unfitted for the profession who rush into it to be society lions and marry rich men's daughters—which, if true, should disbar them without a hearing. Others, she says, "go into the law" because some illustrious parent or uncle succeeded in it, and think to shine by the rays of departed glory. The phrase "going into law," we imagine, must not be understood literally, for few of the class she speaks of ever get far enough into law to get much law into themselves. Then again she says "men"—and she might have added women also—"cursed with the fluency of speech enter the law"—we presume she means the profession of the law—"to hear themselves talk." If there are any instances of this kind we never heard of them. In the bar of San Diego there certainly is no member that is given to much speaking on buncombe issues—but the criticism may have application in San Francisco or Los Angeles for aught we know.

Concluding, the lady lawyer says: "We cry aloud for men and women only who are qualified by nature to master the abstruse problems of law and dissect knotty questions of fact." We don't know if we grasp this proposition entirely. We have known women who were "qualified by nature" to master the masters of "abstruse problems of law," and seemed to do it easily, and lots of women who every day "dissect the knotty questions of fact" as they relate to the latest style of spring bonnets, and they do it more deftly than any great big lumbering man could. Woman, God bless her, can do many things well—mankind could not get along at all without her—but she can't throw a stone and hit the side of a barn.

We hope the editor of the Bee will continue her strictures upon law and lawyers—they deserve them—as well as upon the general scope of woman's work in heretofore masculine fields, for they are always interesting, and sometimes amusing.

LAND FRAUDS.

ROSS & COTTON,
35 South Spring Street
Are locating many settlers and intending settlers, under the Public land laws, on fine, level GOVERNMENT LAND, with deep, rich soil, plenty of fuel and near railroad. With a Surveyor on the ground, we resurvey these lands and find the old Government Stakes. We make railroad excursion to these lands, taking provisions, tents, etc., stay over night, and Point Out the Corners. We have full, accurate maps, plats, etc., corrected from the United States Land Office Records the last day before starting. Our excursions do not return the same day of starting, for the reason that no man can show Government Stakes and pass over these lands in so short a time. We do not locate parties on land numbers covering lands many miles away from lands shown, but, in every instance, we guarantee the entries to be EXACTLY the same lands shown. Our next EXCURSION will leave THURSDAY, JUNE 16, 1887, at 7 a.m.
All wishing to go must arrange with us by not later than Wednesday morning. We challenge the closest investigation and guarantee satisfaction. ROSS & COTTON,

NITRO-GLYCERINE.

THE DEADLY EXPLOSIVE RENDERED HARMLESS.

A Successful Experiment—S. D. Smolianinoff Fires Four Shells from a Parrott Rifle—Terrific Effects of an Explosion.

[San Francisco Alta.]

Since nitro-glycerine was discovered in 1847 its use has been attended with many and serious accidents. Its sensitiveness is so great that the slightest shock was liable to explode it. The word was is used advisably, as Sergey Dark Smolianinoff, a Russian resident of this city, has, to all appearance, at last discovered a method of treating the deadly liquid so as to render it perfectly harmless to handle. Mr. Smolianinoff is only 27 years of age, and has been during the greater part of his life a hard student. His studies in natural philosophy led him to take up the question of explosives, which again naturally led him to the consideration of that greatest of all know explosives, the newly-discovered nitro-glycerine. The difficulty and danger attending the use of this explosive in the ordinary shell fired from the common gun seemed to Smolianinoff easy to overcome. First, he used a cartridge divided into two compartments. In the one division he placed nitric acid and in the other glycerine. During the flight of the ball the two fluids mingled, formed a proportionate quantity of nitro-glycerine, and at the impact of the bullet with a solid body, exploded. Although so successful, the quantity of the explosive formed by the compounding of the fluids in the shell was too small to create an explosion in proportion to the size of the shell.

Further and deeper study of the principle that two bodies changed chemically lose their properties, helped Smolianinoff to the discovery, about three months ago, of a process by which he was actually enabled to render nitro-glycerine non-explosive; to so prepare it that no concussion could explode it until the addition of his chemically prepared fluid. Experiments have fully proved this. Over one hundred shells have been fired from an ordinary rifled Parrott gun, and in no one case has the nitro-glycerine exploded by concussion.

The last experiment was tried yesterday, and was witnessed by a number of army officers, scientific men and newspaper reporters. The place chosen was a small point of land about a mile beyond Saucelito, and close by the trestle-work which connects that point with Strawberry Point on the opposite side. Among those present were Lieuts. Greble and Chase, U.S.A., of General Howard's staff; Lieut. Harrison, professor of military science and technique at the State University; Denis Donohoe, British Consul; N. D. Parffonoff, secretary to the Russian Consul; Capt. J. W. Carter, who acted as gunner; Capt. E. P. Herendeen, Prof. Reindel, Prof. Mindeleff, E. P. Alexsin, Roger Johnson, C. L. Queen and O. Trelut. The gun used was an old twenty-pound rifled Parrott gun, which has been twice condemned. This ancient piece of ordnance was mounted on a wooden carriage and pointed in the direction of Strawberry Point. In loading a three-pound charge of Dupont Pacific Mills, No. F was used. On this a wooden sabot was rammed down, and lastly the eight-inch conical shell, nearly filled with prepared nitro-glycerine. The shell was filled by means of a hole on the top. In this a wooden top was screwed, which was pierced by a hole a quarter of an inch across. The lower half of this hole contained the chemical preparation which on contact with the nitro-glycerine would cause it to explode. A time-fuse was then inserted in the hole. When the time-fuse in the breech was ignited, the spectators hid their precious bodies behind a neighboring hill.

The explosion was loud and sharp, and followed by a loud humming in the air, caused by the swiftly-flying shell. On the first shot the sabot was driven half-way across the creek—about a mile in breadth—while the shell struck Strawberry Hill, and ten seconds after it had left the gun exploded with a sound exceeding that which accompanied its discharge from the rifle. The next shot passed clean over the hill, and failed to explode. The third also passed over, and fell into the water on the other side. The fourth, on account of too great a depression in the gun, struck the water about a quarter of a mile on the near side of the Point, ricochetted over and sank, failing to explode.

The cause of the non-explosion of the shell after impact with the earth is explained by the fact that the fuse used was not Government fuse and was badly made. The main thing, however, was satisfactorily proved—that it is possible to fire a nitro-glycerine cartridge from an ordinary gun without fear of premature explosion. The next experiment was to show that the explosive power of the nitro-glycerine was not destroyed when thus prepared. An eight-inch projectile was a little over half filled with the prepared explosive and sunk into the mud of the beach to the tip. The explosion was terrific. A hole seven and a half feet in diameter by two and a half feet in depth was literally scooped out of the yielding mud. In contrast with this an eight-inch shell was next filled with the same powder used in the charges—being nearly a pound in weight—and also buried in the mud and exploded. A hole thirty-two inches across and twelve inches deep was the result. This showed an expansive power on the part of the nitro-glycerine of perhaps eleven or twelve times as great as the powder, both being of the same bulk. As the expansive force of nitro-glycerine is said to be thirteen times that of gunpowder, the experiment showed a decrease in the power of the former, due, doubtless, to its preparation.

The last experiment was the explosion of a small quantity of the fluid placed in a tin can. The concussion of this was painfully felt quite 200 yards away, but no great impression was made on the beach. Mr. Smolianinoff wished to conclude with a pet experiment of his, that of exploding giant powder in the prepared nitro-glycerine without exploding the latter. The army officers, however, thought this needless, being fully satisfied that the ingenious Russian has discovered a process which effectually renders the fluid non-explosive. They congratulated him upon his discovery, and confessed that they had thought the thing utterly impossible. They promised to provide a proper gun and good fuse, and give Smolianinoff every opportunity to render his experiment perfect. These experiments will, therefore, be soon repeated, and under more favorable circumstances.

Mr. Smolianinoff was elated at the success of his experiments, and will doubtless offer to sell his discovery to some government. His great secrets lie in the chemical preparations necessary to neutralize and to explode the prepared nitro-glycerine, on which subject he is very reticent. The fluid, however, as used on the ground, he stated to an Alta reporter, was 80 per cent. pure nitro-glycerine and 20 per cent. of his neutralized preparation.

LANDS OF THE

International Colonization Company.

LAND AGENTS,

SAN DIEGO, CAL.

GENERAL DESCRIPTION.

The lands of the International Company of Mexico comprise the fertile district known as the northern or upper half of the peninsula of Lower California. Commencing at the line fifteen miles south of San Diego in the United States, near parallel 32 north latitude, the Company's property extends southward a distance of 300 miles, having the Pacific Ocean upon one side and the Gulf of California on the other.

The valleys are deep and frequent, and from the altitude of the mountains receive a greater amount of moisture than the country further north. Springs and running streams are abundant. The soil in the valleys is very fertile, and, as a rule, the latter is fringed with the dark, loose loam so good for fruit-culture, and the strong, red soil from which such remarkable results have been obtained in cultivating the grape for raisins and for wine. The mountains are heavily timbered with pine at a distance of three miles from the coast. Corn has been raised upon the Maneadero, near Ensenada, this season, where, in two months from the time of planting, the stalks were from fourteen to eighteen feet in height. Fruit trees planted last spring have prospered and some will be bearing next year. Corn, wheat, barley and all the cereals can be raised here, as can the sugar cane, tobacco, cotton, grapes, oranges, figs, bananas, limes, pomegranates, cocoanuts, pineapples, lemons, peaches and apricots, as well as the apple and pear of the temperate zone.

On the hillsides there is good grazing for horses, cattle, sheep and goats the entire year, and the cañons are timbered with liveoaks.

The eucalyptus tree of Lower California grows to a height of forty feet in three years from the seed. The orange on the lower half of the peninsula, originally transplanted from Spain, is finer than the celebrated navel. It is estimated that pineapples will give a profit of $600 per acre.

The pampas grass, the feathery plumes of which sell in eastern cities for 50 cents each, are common ornaments of the dooryard.

RAINFALL.

Rain falls gently and evenly during the night and is not accompanied with high winds and vivid lightning, as in countries further north. The fall last year, to date of March 15th, was twenty-one inches.

WILD GAME.

Game is abundant, the California quail being seen in myriads, also other wild fowl in the season, while antelope and deer frequent the heads of the valleys.

BEES, FLOWERS, HONEY.

So thickly are all the lands covered with blossoms of various wild flowers, clover, etc., that honey can be produced in any quantity marketable. A single town near the Company's lands shipped in one season nearly 2,000,000 pounds. The wild bees have taken such possession of this land of flowers that the settlers will find an abundance of sweetening at their very doors. Not only are hollow trees and clefts in rock tenanted, but eaves of buildings in town are preempted. Near Ensenada one single body of wild honey is said to measure six feet in length by two in width and over 100 different swarms are reputed to occupy portions of the little hill where it is stored. We noticed that the hives or boxes around the settlers' habitations had been, many of them, overturned by cattle, the contents having been hitherto evidently beyond the means of transportation.

TIMBER.

A peculiarity of Lower California is the number of groves of liveoaks lining its valleys. These trees are said to equal, and even surpass, those of Louisiana.

Peninsula mahogany, which makes very good veneering, is used at Ensenada for firewood.

CLIMATE.

Prof. Agassiz visited the district in 1872 as a member of the "Hassler" scientific expedition, and was so impressed that he made the following statement:

"I have seen many parts of the world and have made some study of this subject. It is the question of climate I refer to. You are here on the 32d parallel, beyond the reach of the severe winters of northern latitudes. You have a great capital in your climate. It will be worth millions to you. This is one of the favored spots of the earth, and people will come to you from all quarters to live in your genial and healthful atmosphere."

HOT MINERAL SPRINGS.

The waters of the Hot Mineral Springs, fifteen miles south of Ensenada, are wonderful to taste, touch and observe. You can see the steam rising from them in thick flakes, so great is their heat. Unquestionably they are among the rarest and finest waters on the continent for the relief of rheumatism, gout and other blood diseases. When the owners of the spring erect a hotel there, in accordance with their present plans, they will make a resort inferior to none in America.

The Town of Ensenada!

Situate on the beautiful Bay of Todas Santos, contains a population of 1400 souls, mostly Americans. It is laid out on an ample scale, all lots being 82x164 feet. The streets and avenues are eighty-two feet in width, with the exception of an avenue which is 120 feet in width, with a length of fifteen miles. All streets and avenues are bordered with trees and ornamental shrubbery, imported from California. Besides, there is a magnificent park, in which may be seen trees and flowers of the temperate and torrid zones. The town is well built, some of the structures possessing architectural beauty of rare merit. Several manufactories are in operation and others are in contemplation. The harbor is grand, and will of itself invite commerce. There is no town today upon either continent possessing a more promising future.

RAILROAD AND OTHER IMPROVEMENTS.

The Pacific and Gulf Line of steamers, the initial vessel of which is on her way to this coast, will carry the products of this country to any port on the Pacific Coast or Mexico. Then again, the railroads which are bound to be constructed within a short time will give rapid communication with the East, as well as the North. The first railroad to touch this port will undoubtedly come from the North, opening up for settlement the exceedingly rich valleys of Tia Juana, Guadalupe and San Rafael, the latter with its many mining enterprises. The same railroad will run a branch to San Quentin, via Santa Tomas and San Vicente, thus throwing open those magnificent valleys and opening up vast deposits of iron ore and coal, the like of which has never been heard of.

The Future Harbor of Southern California.

THIS IS THE OCEAN TERMINUS OF THE CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD, OF THE ATCHISON, Topeka and Santa Fé system, who are under contract to lay five miles of sidetracks at this point by July 10, 1887—the shortest railroad line between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans. PORT BALLONA is situated on Santa Monica Bay, only thirty minutes' ride by rail from the City of Los Angeles, with trains to begin running every three hours in the day early in July. Property can be purchased now at a much lower figure than when railroads and steamships are brought together. PORT BALLONA has two main avenues, one 100 feet and one 80 feet wide, with all other streets 60 feet. Residence lots are 40x150, and business lots 25x100 and 25x150 feet. The residence property is at an elevation of from 50 to 75 feet above tide-water, thus affording a most magnificent view, extending from Point Duma to the San Jacinto Mountains, and from the San Bernardino Mountains to Santa Catalina Island, in the Blue Pacific, and with a Beach unsurpassed on the Coast.

The Beautiful Lake of Ballona

Is one of the greatest features of the place, affording, at all times, a perfectly safe and pleasant place for Sailing and Boating of all kinds, and teeming with Fish and Water Fowl. There is also a never-failing Spring of Pure Sulphur Water, and both sulphur and salt water bath-houses are already in course of construction.

TRADE S.S.S. MARK

A Positive Proof That Cancer Can Be Cured.

Mr. A. R. Shands is a well-known farmer, whose residence is in Spartanburg, S. C. He is a man of means and education. His standing in his community is A 1 for truth and probity. While Mr. Shands refrains from using the word cancer, the facts he gives settles the question of the nature of his disease. He says his physicians never said the sore was a cancer, but that they all warned him that there was great danger that it might turn into a cancer. At any rate none of them could afford Mr. Shands the slightest relief, and finally he was cured by S. S. S., the finest and only absolutely certain blood purifier in the world. Below is Mr. Shands' own letter about his cure. Let any one suffering from a similar ailment write to Mr. Shands and learn from him the exact effects of the wonderful medicine that cured him.

SPARTANBURG, S. C., April 2, 1887.

GENTLEMEN: For twenty years I have had a sore on my left cheek. It had gradually been growing worse. The many physicians whom I had consulted were unable to do me any good. Last fall a year ago I began using S. S. S. At first it inflamed the sore and it became more virulent than ever; so much so, indeed, that my family insisted that I should leave off the medicine. I persisted in using the S. S. S. At the end of two months the sore was entirely healed. Thinking that the evil was out of my constitution, I left off the medicine; but in November, ten months after, a very slight breaking out appeared. I at once began again on S. S. S., and now that is also disappearing. I have every faith in S. S. S. It has done me more good than all the doctors and other medicines I ever took.

Yours truly, A. R. SHANDS.

Look where you will in the vicinity of the city of Los Angeles, in search either of lots or acre property, for charming homes, and the best judgments will be convinced at a glance as to the difficulty of finding a location for a town so beautiful, such pure and bracing air, and smooth, rich lands as characterizes Hyde Park. This splendid townsite is located on the line of the California Central, of the A., T. & S. F. system, which is to connect Los Angeles with the new harbor at La Ballona, and is distant 7½ miles from the center of the city; a midway town between the city and the harbor. Trains are to be running through the tract by July next, when great business activity all along the line will be the order of the day. Liberal-sized lots, 60x185 feet, fronting on sixty-foot avenues, are offered and being taken rapidly at $125 each; $40 cash, balance $10 per month, without interest. This price includes water piped to each lot and streets graded. Such terms give the present purchasers a good opportunity to make money in the rising values that must follow the effects of the harbor and railroad developments. Particularly desirable are the 5 and 10 acre villa lots surrounding the town. Conveyances leave the office at 1:30 p.m., to show parties the beautiful property.

THE San Francisco Call Board, when it says wheat hereafter, means California wheat, and operators caught short cannot help themselves out with any other aliunde grain, unless so specified in the bond.

PASO ROBLES, San Luis Obispo county, expects to lay the corner-stone of a Masonic temple on the 24th inst. An invitation is extended to all Free and Accepted Masons and their families to attend, and special railroad and stage rates are promised.

THE Chicago Tribune does not appear to look very hopefully upon Senator Sherman's Presidential prospects. It says: "John Sherman is a great man, but his Presidential boom appears to be frozen hard enough to skate on already." There is plenty of time for a thaw between now and the opening of the national campaign.

CHARLES OGDEN FERRIS, the San Diego climant of the Tichborne estate, who is in jail at Buffalo for fraud in obtaining a pension from the Government, is still hopeful under his somewhat embarrassing circumstances. He firmly believes that the estate will yet go to his five children who live in San Diego. We congratulate our neighbor on her brilliant prospects.

More Local Patriotism.

The San José Times is guilty of this gratuitous insult to the people of Los Angeles:

One method followed by our industrious citizens of Los Angeles county to extract coin from the tenderfoot wherewith to swell the boom in their individual pockets consists, according to the San Bernardino Courier, in taking the subjects on which they operate two or three miles out on the San Bernardino desert and showing them lands as subject to entry which have already been entered, "charging them a good round sum for this false information."

The Courier emphatically denounces these frauds, and calls upon the Los Angeles papers to expose the perpetrators. They may do so—perhaps!

The sharp practice referred to was exposed by the Los Angeles press before the exposure came from San Bernardino (if it is any satisfaction to our jealous up-country neighbor to know that), and all land frauds that came to public attention are as promptly denounced. Shysters and sharpers will exist in every community, and they are just as likely to practice on lands as on pocketbooks or safes.

The San José paper makes a most serious blunder in attempting to saddle the odium of such transactions on "our industrious citizens of Los Angeles county." Its allusion is a contemptible exhibition of meanness.

Suppose that, some dark night, a San José thug waylays a man in one of the streets of that city and robs him. The Los Angeles papers, retaliating in kind, would say: "One method followed by our industrious citizens of San José to extract coin from the tenderfoot is to knock him down with a sand-bag." That would be equally fair and generous with the article quoted above.

For shame, you men of the North, with such little souls! Are we not all brothers? Is not Los Angeles raising the boom for you as well as for herself, and is not this same boom spreading over the State? Have a little patience and a little decency, and your good time will come after a while. Benjamin Franklin says "it is hard for an empty bag to stand upright." We know you are an empty bag, but do try to stand a little longer.

Irregular Mails.

Monrovia makes a vigorous kick about the irregularity of her mails. "Here we are on the main line of a transcontinental railway," says the Planet, "and it takes three days to send a letter to, and receive an answer from, Pasadena, nine miles distant." Not a very good showing for Mr. Vilas's department, that's a fact.

We believe there is complaint all along the line of the new railway. Sierra Madre lately missed several days' mails in consequence of the irregularities of the service. Two or three times the pouch was carried to San Diego, and once it was thrown off in the brush between Lamanda Park and Chapman's. The postmaster of Sierra Madre (who also carries the star-route between the railroad and the town), made it a point to be promptly at the station, and then he was subjected to the exasperation of seeing the express whirl through and carry his valuable budget along. Finally he provided himself with a big red cloth and he flagged the train. He got himself roundly berated by the train hands, but he also got his pouch, and that was what he wanted. Since then the Sierra Madre mail has been a little more regular.

This only goes to show that the Lord helps those who help themselves. Let the Monrovia people take note of this lesson, and stir up a big rumpus. They can bring these postal clerks to time.

Another One of Those Appointments.

The "reform" Administration has methods of its own which are beyond the comprehension of the uninitiated. No matter how black a man's previous record may have been, he may send in his application and hope for favor.

The latest criminal who has been a subject of Administrative preferment is George Trust, of Baltimore. In 1873 he was dismissed from the Baltimore police force with a character as unenviable as wrong-doing could make it. Two years later he was locked up for reprehensible outrages, and for endeavoring to incite riots on election day. In 1879 he was imprisoned for like cause, and in a few days after his release he filled himself with whisky and proceeded to murder an inoffensive colored man whom he chanced to meet. For this he was imprisoned four years and seven months. But for all this suffering he now receives his reward. The party of "reform" extends its sympathy to him, and the Administration has called him to come up higher. Trust has just received his appointment to a responsible position in the internal revenue service. "Turn the rascals out."

English Injustice.

Mulhall, the eminent English statistician, in his work describing the results of "Fifty Years of National Progress," paints, with his truth-telling figures, a dark picture of Ireland's suffering, and one that shows good reason for the lack of Irish enthusiasm for the Queen's Jubilee. Ireland's history during the past fifty years is one that well might bring the blush of shame to the face of every English patriot. The author states that the reign of Victoria has witnessed more suffering in Ireland than any since the time of Elizabeth, 1,225,000 persons having died of famine, 3,668,000 having been evicted and 4,186,000 having emigrated since 1837. He adds: "The number of persons evicted is equal to 75 per cent. of the actual population. No country either in Europe or elsewhere has suffered such wholesale extermination." This is the dispassionate statement of an English statistician. Could a more forcible commentary be written upon England's injustice than this?

THE Porter Ashe case, which set the courts and lawyers of Los Angeles topsy-turvy a short time ago, was brought up in a Sacramento court last Saturday, and settled by the granting of a divorce to Mrs. Ashe and allowing her to resume her maiden name. Then Mrs. E. B. Crocker formally adopted little Alma. The court will not divulge the grounds of divorce, and thus it is hoped to cut off scandal. It is just possible that herein rests the secret of the sudden flight of the litigants from Los Angeles. The reporters had got too good a hold on the case and no complaisant court could be found to play the oyster. Thus the sleepy old town of Sacramento served the purpose of "divorce without publicity" better.

A CORRESPONDENT makes the sensible suggestion that the Spreckels Bros.' new Australian steamship line had better adopt Port Ballona as its point for trans-shipping Eastern and Australian mails. The transcontinental journey via Los Angeles is fifty miles shorter than by way of San Diego, and 125 miles shorter than through San Francisco. In competing with the Northern Pacific route for quick transit every hour may count, and Ballona and Los Angeles will have about three hours the advantage of San Diego. Better think of that, Messrs. Spreckels.

THE International Company of Lower California, with headquarters at San Diego, is no slouch when it comes to "working the press." It knocked out Clara Foltz's paper, which attacked its title, by buying the plant from under it, and now it has made arrangements for purchasing the San Diego News, and will transport it to Ensenada. There are a good many towns in the country which would be the better for a thinning out of redundant newspapers.

THE Chronicle complains of the filthy and neglected condition of the business streets of San Francisco. Some of them, it says, are "dirtier this year than ever before." Such a condition of things no city that is desirous of attracting immigration can afford to tolerate. Diphtheria, which has of late reaped such a deadly harvest among the children of that city, furnishes one of the many protests against it which should be heeded.

THE Teachers' Convention, which will be held in Chicago a few weeks hence, promises to be one of the most important occasions in the history of education in this country. The Chicago Tribune says of it: "It will be a great educational bazaar of school exhibits and school materials of every description, and all the systems of education from the kindergarten to the university will be passed in review."

RIVERSIDE has just dedicated a new Congregationalist church and has four more church edifices under way or in contemplation, and all signs point to the building of a $50,000 high school there before long. THE TIMES' Riverside correspondent naively remarks: "Our boom runs rather to churches and schools than to the increase of saloons."

THE Pasadena Star rises to move that the highest peak in the Sierra Madre Mountains this side of "Old Baldy" (correct name Mt. San Antonio) be called after Father Junipero Serra, the pioneer priest and founder of Southern California missions. Mt. Junipero would be a good name and a just tribute to the man who did more than any other to plant civilization in California.

THE Santa Barbara Press thinks that "if it is true, as reported, that in San Luis Obispo there are 285 people who make their living from the sale of whisky and beer, the rest of the population must be kept busy drinking." Now let's hear from San Luis Obispo.

AMUSEMENTS.

HARBOR LIGHTS.—Last night the sensational play known as Harbor Lights was presented here by the Osbourne & Stockwell Comedy Company. The play turns upon the well-worn theme of a false accusation of murder, with numerous incidentals in the shape of trusty British seamen, pretty barmaids, a particularly wicked villain and a heart-broken heroine. The familiar face of Gustavus Levick appears as that of the manly sailor hero. His blonde beauty is well adapted to the part and he easily leads in favor. Miss Ethel Brandon, as "Dora Vane," looks the charming young wife to the life, but has not yet learned control of a naturally pleasant voice, which rises discordantly during strongly emotional parts. The broad comedy is admirably done by L. B. Stockwell as "Tom Dossiter" and Miss Hattie Moore as "Polly." The villain, George Dalziel, has a prominent part, but seems to think that a high-pitched monotonous delivery and a sardonic smile are necessary adjuncts to stage wickedness. A large and enthusiastic house greeted the first night of the play, which will run through the week.

JOSEPH JOSTLED

By a Henchman Who Wants Pay for Services Rendered.

Something of a ripple was caused in political circles yesterday by the filing of the following complaint with Justice Austin. The complaint has not yet been served:

In the City Justice Court, City of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California. E. Blannerhassett, plaintiff, vs. Joseph D. Lynch, defendant.

The plaintiff complains and alleges:

First—That the defendant is indebted to the plaintiff in the sum of $150 for the work, labor and services in obtaining and securing evidence in the case of Lynch against Vandever, being a contested election case in the Sixth Congressional District of the State of California, performed at the request of the defendant at Los Angeles city, in the county of Los Angeles, State of California, between the 1st day of March, 1887, and the 1st day of May, 1887.

Second—That defendant was not paid the same or any part thereof.

Wherefore plaintiff prays judgment against defendant for said amount of $150, and costs of suit. WILL E. DUNN, Attorney for Plaintiff.

BADLY BEAT.

A Citizen's Adventures in a Gambling Den.

Between 9 and 10 o'clock last night a citizen, residing on Olive street, was approached by an officer who noticed him and asked what was the matter. The citizen replied that he was drunk. The officer then took the man on a promenade (as officers often do to sober a man off), and after a short time the citizen's head was in a little better condition, and he told the officer rather a sorry tale. He said that he had gone into the gambling house at 12½ Commercial street late in the afternoon. There were several men playing and drinking. On their invitation he joined them. Luck ran against him, but the gamblers plied him with liquor and kept him at it till he had lost all his ready money, and signed checks for a large additional amount. The money was in his wife's name, and he had signed her name to the checks.

THE FESTIVAL.

Last Night—Spanish Dances—Voting for a Young Man.

Armory Hall was crowded last evening with attendants upon the Catholic Festival, and the evening was full of pleasure to those present. BARTER'S BASE.

He Is Evidently Very Far Off from It.

Monday's Chronicle gives the following figures about a Los Angeles episode:

A few days ago Washington Barter resigned his position as telegraph editor of the Herald, Joe Lynch's paper, for the purpose of going to San Francisco, as his friends thought. He astonished every one by appearing in the pulpit of Grace Methodist Episcopal Church today after the pastor had preached his regular sermon. On investigating the matter a Chronicle reporter learned that Barter went to the pastor's house at a late hour last night and rang the doorbell violently, but could not awaken the minister. He then gave the signal of distress of some secret organization and the minister came to the door. Barter told him that he had just awakened from a deep sleep and he felt that he had been commanded by a divine power to preach today. The pastor, Will A. Knighten, did not know what to do, and put him off by telling him to see one of the deacons of the church. He did so, and the deacon appeared at church with Barter this morning. Barter offered up prayer and then talked in a rambling manner for ten minutes.

Barter was connected with Maj. Ben C. Truman in the publication of the Star in this city some years ago, and when that paper suspended he went to Arizona and only returned a few months ago, when he was employed on the Herald. He is about 55 years of age and is well known in Southern California.

THE APACHES.

The Runaways Not Captured—Gov. Torres Co-operating.

TUCSON (Ariz.), June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The Apache outbreak situation is unchanged. Gen. Miles passed through here last night. It is supposed that the troops are still on the trail of the Indians. Nothing has been heard from Capt. Wint and he is supposed to be on a hot trail. The report of the burning of the buildings of the Inter-Ocean Cattle Company, near the east end of the Santa Catalinas, is not corroborated.

Gov. Torres telegraphs today that he has all the mountain passes on the Sonora line guarded, and will heartily coöperate with the United States troops. Yesterday five mounted Indians crossed the mesa below Casa Blanca, in the Santa Ritas, going in the direction of Cooper Camp. Half an hour afterward one Indian on foot passed, following the mounted ones.

THE FRUIT CROP.

Secretary Lelong's Report of the Recent Damage by Wind.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Secretary Lelong, of the State Horticultural Board, says that he has received reports from twenty-seven counties in California, regarding the fruit crop. The hard winds of May 26th and 27th did considerable damage to small fruit all the way from the northern fruit-producing region down to Fresno and Tulare. This is particularly true of cherries. It also caused pears to drop considerably, and burned apples in some localities. The wind also caused peaches to drop. It also affected plums to some extent, especially about Petaluma. The greatest damage was in and about Tulare, all fruits being injured, the Bartlett pear crop more especially than any other, as a whole.

The man gave his name as Ed Miller, and again as Ed Johnson. It is thought he is Peter Olsen, the murderer of Mrs. Millie Lyons, of Napa. He answers Olsen's description exactly. He said he was on his way to Ketchum to work on the washout. The Sheriff of Napa has been telegraphed to.

The legatee is his illegitimate child by a negress who was in Dickson's service. A fight was made over the will, the principal point being that it was opposed to public policy to permit a white man to dispose of his property to colored illegitimate children. The Supreme Court held that negroes have the same civil rights as white people and that the will must stand.

FIXING THE FIGGERS.

Rival Wheat Operators Indulge in Very Opposite Calculations on the Grain Yield in This State.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—[Special.] 'Change, a journal devoted to the grain interests of California, will in its next number say:

"Starr & Co., one of the largest milling firms in California, have been accused of circulating false reports as to the condition of the stocks of wheat in this State, and the probable yield of the cereal crops, with a view to the encouragement of the shorts, and the depression of the holdings of the long side of the market. It devolves upon us to say that every word in the letters and cables of Starr & Co. is fully substantiated by facts. They said that on the 21st of May the State had about 275,000 tons of the old crop still on hand, mostly in the ring's hands. This was very close to the exact truth. On May 21st there was 160,000 tons of wheat in the Call Board warehouses. Since that date 13,270 tons has been cleared; 15,000 tons has been loaded aboard outward-going vessels. Starr & Co. have received 10,000 tons from the interior this month, other milling firms 50,000, and there is 25,000 tons still in interior warehouses, showing that there was 273,270 tons of visible in the State, if not more, at the date of their letter. As to crop prospects and a surplus of 1,000,000 tons, our estimate of the yield of 1887 was 984,600 tons; Starr & Co. said 1,000,000 tons, Sperry & Co. said 1,011,000 tons, G. W. McNear & Co. said 1,000,000 tons. The California requirements for the year will not exceed 200,000 tons, 4000 tons per month for the millers, and 150,000 tons for seed. We have at least 300,000 tons now on hand, and whatever the crop may be, the total yield will be available for export. The Oregon crop has not been taken into consideration at all in these calculations. But Oregon sends us 50,000 to 75,000 tons of wheat. This year she may send 100,000, possibly more, for the railroads have just been completed, and there is even now a manifest anxiety to rush grain to San Francisco."

STARR'S FIGURES RIDICULED.

Past experience has shown that 200,000 tons for home consumption is an underestimation. It has of late been 300,000 tons annually. William Dresbach, president of the Produce Exchange, and who was a leader in the recent wheat corner which was brought to a successful termination, was seen regarding the estimate of the crop for export made by Starr & Co. He said: "A fair estimate of the California wheat crop of 1887 is from 700,000 to 725,000 tons. This is based on reports received by the Produce Exchange on the 1st of June. They are most reliable reports and come from over two hundred correspondents. Starr & Co.'s statement that there was on hand of the old crop 275,000 tons is ridiculous. At the time referred to it was not over 175,000 tons, as everybody posted in the grain trade well knows. Anybody, of course, may make figures to suit himself. Starr & Co. do not believe their own statements, and they have other motives for making them, and you can say that I said so. As for this year's crop, there is not enough wheat thrashed yet upon which to form any judgment as to how it will turn out. Starr & Co. have received reports, some satisfactory and some unsatisfactory, and they allude only to the best ones. I am satisfied in my own mind that they are largely short on the Call Board. As for their statement that they simply buy and sell simultaneously and on commission, they should tell that only to the marines, for nobody acquainted with the grain trade in this city will believe any such story."

OTHER ESTIMATES.

At the office of L. G. McGlauflin, a leading grain broker, it was thought that 1,000,000 tons was a fair estimate of the crop of 1887. It was thought that Warr & Co. had erred in their estimate of the old crop on hand, which, in their judgment, did not exceed at the utmost 200,000 tons.

Sperry & Co., of Brockton, millers, were of the opinion that 250,000 tons was not an overestimate of the old wheat on hand. Much wheat had turned up since the advance in prices. Many farmers held over from 50 to 1000 sacks of wheat which had been kept for selling purposes, and which, being now surplus, they stood ready to sell. Sperry & Co.'s estimates for the crop of 1887 was 984,000 tons.

George J. Brander, of the Nevada Bank, said: "The returns given by the Call Board about the 1st of June show the amount on hand to be about 175,000 tons. So far as the crop of 1887 is concerned I cannot give a definite idea because the crop is not yet harvested." RUS.

There having been a majority for Chandler in the two Houses, he is elected for the unexpired term of the late Senator Pike. Both Houses will meet in joint convention at noon tomorrow, when the formal announcement of the election will be made.

Lamar for the Supreme Bench.

CHEYENNE (Wyo.), June 14.—The growing impression over the country that Secretary Lamar will be appointed to the Supreme Bench has reached Wyoming. A canvas of the Cheyenne bar and lawyers who are here attending the May term of the court, demonstrates that they unanimously regard the appointment as the best possible. They think that Secretary Lamar has shown great judicial learning and judgment in his present office, and that his experience there would add much to his fitness for the Supreme Bench.

The Ancient and Honorables.

BOSTON, June 14.—The Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company voted last night to send a delegation of twelve members to London to represent the organization at the celebration of the 350th anniversary by the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of London, which occurs on July 11th.

Eastern Railroads Reducing Rates for the St. Louis Encampment.

Gotham Concludes Not to Send Back Her Pauper Emigrants—St. Paul Threatened With a General Strike of All Classes of Mechanics.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The claimant of the Tichborne estate, Arthur Orton, who was sentenced to fourteen years' imprisonment for falsely swearing that he was Sir Roger Tichborne, is in this city. He says he is going to England and will secure the repeal of the act of Parliament confirming young Sir Henry's title.

The California claimant, Charles Ogden Ferris, alias Curtis, now in jail at Buffalo for fraudulently obtaining a pension from the United States Government, still claims to be the rightful heir, and says that when his imprisonment is over he will go to England and vanquish all his adversaries. He remarked yesterday: "That man Orton is the biggest fraud the world ever saw. I wanted to see the Tichborne estate go to the young baronet, because he cannot live forever, and as he will never have any issue, the whole property must go to my five children, who are hale and hearty at San Diego, Cal. My nephew is a little puny fellow and London weather will eat him up."

LABOR TROUBLES.

Strikes in All Trades Threatened at St. Paul, Minn.

HELENA (Mont.), June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] A St. Paul special to the Independent says: "The striking carpenters, who demand shorter hours at the same pay, are still out, and there is no immediate prospect of a settlement of the dispute with the contractors. Union workmen of all trades, bricklayers, masons, painters, plumbers, and even cigarmakers, threaten to go out on Wednesday, if the demands of the carpenters are not acceded to. The strike is greatly demoralizing the building trade.

STRIKERS ORDERED TO VACATE.

PITTSBURGH, June 14.—This afternoon writs were served by the Sheriff on seventy-five of the strikers at the Pennsylvania Salt Works, at Natrona, Pa., ordering them to vacate the company's houses on or before the first Monday in July. If the houses are not vacant at that time, the occupants will be forcibly evicted. With one or two exceptions, they have promised to move out presently.

REDUCED RATES.

Railways to Sell Cheap Tickets to the G. A. R. Encampment.

CHICAGO, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] An important meeting of the passenger department of the Central Traffic Association was held here today. A rate of one of the lowest unlimited fares for the round trip was made for the National Educational Society to meet in Chicago in July. For the Fourth of July excursions rates locally of one fare for the round trip will be made. For large political conventions, etc., excursion rates on round-trip tickets will be authorized by the vice-chairman, when assented to by three-fourths of the lines terminating at the point where the meetings are to be held. One-fare, round-trip tickets for the Grand Encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic at St. Louis, will be placed on sale September 20th, the sale to close September 25th. The tickets are good to return up to and including October 2d.

A HERO HONORED.

Unveiling of a Statue of Nathan Hale, the Revolutionary Martyr.

HARTFORD (Ct.), June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The statue of Nathan Hale made by authority of the State of Connecticut, to be placed in the Capitol, was this afternoon formally delivered by the committee to the State. It is the work of Carl Gerhardt, of Hartford, and is a bronze figure of heroic size. Hale is represented standing with his arms partly outstretched and in an attitude suggesting his famous words of regret that he had but one life to give for his country.

Charles Dudley Warner made the address in behalf of the committee and presented the statue to the State. Gov. Lounsbury, in a brief address, accepted the statue in behalf of the people of Connecticut.

NEED NOT RETURN.

Pauper Emigrants Allowed to Remain in New York.

NEW YORK, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The hearing of the habeas corpus in the case of seventy-one immigrants who have been forbidden by the Immigration Commissioners to land, came up in the United States District Court this afternoon. The testimony showed that the Commissioners directed the detention of the immigrants solely on the ground that their fare to this country had been paid by the British government. Judge Brown decided that as the objection to landing included no statutory reason for describing immigrants as paupers, he would discharge them.

CINCINNATI, June 14.—In the Steamboatmen's Convention today the report of the Committee on Permanent Organization was adopted. COLLAPSED.

The Great Grain Corner Goes to Pieces.

Several Heavy Chicago Firms Go Down in the Crash.

The Price of Wheat Tumbles with a Rapidity Without a Parallel.

The Panic Extends to Milwaukee and New York—St. Louis Profits by the Decline—No Session of the Call Board at San Francisco.

By Telegraph to The Times.

CHICAGO, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Demoralization and general disaster overtook the great wheat clique today. The much-vaunted "combine" is smashed. The wheat pit was in a panic for an hour. The June option dropped from 92¾ to 72¾, the most sensational collapse seen in this market in its history. The 16,000,000 bushels of grain collected here and held by a mysterious combination, of which nobody knew anything to a certainty, will now be sold out under the hammer. The failure of Maurice Rosenfeld & Co., prominent clique brokers; Hamill & Bride and E. H. Berry have been announced. More failures are expected to follow. Kershaw & Co., recognized as the leading brokers of the clique, are embarrassed. Rosenfeld & Co.'s losses on the decline are estimated at $500,000.

Kershaw & Co., have sent in a communication to Secretary Stone, of the Board of Trade, that they would have plenty of money by tomorrow, and requesting all houses to keep their trades with them open.

The first intimation of trouble in the wheat deal appeared the day before yesterday, when the July "peg" at 85½ cents was broken through. That let July down so far that the marginal price for June, which was kept at 92¼ cents, was inevitable. There have been a few who claimed that this wheat corner was manipulated by the malodorous Harper, who repudiated his losses made in 1881.

THE BREAK IN ST. LOUIS.

Chicago's Rival Profits by the Collapse of the Clique.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] There was a good deal of excitement on 'Change today over the great tumble in the price of wheat in Chicago, especially as the crowd here had been, and are still, very bearish, and have been playing the short side both here and in Chicago. Private messages laid the break to an unsatisfactory interview between Wilshire and the brokers at Chicago last night, and to a report that the board's attorney had rendered a decision that wheat in cars on sidetracks and in vessels in harbors was regular. As the break progressed in Chicago very heavy offerings were made here, but there was also active buying by the shorts. The decline, therefore, was not great, being less than 2 cents, with a slight recovery at the close.

ST. LOUIS PROFITS.

Most of the traders here, being bears, are credited with making profits out of the break, some of them very handsome ones, but the probabilities are that no great sum has been either lost or won. Only a few were heavy dealers, but the crowd generally were on the winning side and every announcement of a further break was greeted with applause and was taken as so much to their credit. During the most rapid part of the break business was practically suspended, everybody's attention being wholly occupied in watching the blackboard. Brokers rushed toward the middle of the pit seemingly thinking that nothing could be done unless they were in the very center and that all others should revolve around them to transact their business.

Today throughout both sessions the pit was in good free-working condition, there being plenty of room to move about, and traders could enter their trades on their cards without jostling and pushing. For some time this could not be explained until it was shown that the changes in the market could be known in any part of the pit or room by simply watching the indicators on the gallery.

THE BANKS ALL RIGHT.

When Lyman Gage, president of the First National Bank, was asked as to the possible effect of the break in wheat upon the banks of the city, he remarked that it would not have any serious effect, because the loans made by the banks on grain were always made with margins large enough to make them always secure. For that reason any unfavorable effect upon the banks would be slight indeed. President Walsh, of the Chicago National, added that one result would be the release of a quantity of money that had been tied up in wheat. It is generally understood that the local banks have been loaning money freely to the clique operators on wheat at 70 cents per bushel, believing that figure to be far below the actual value of wheat.

REASSURING ANNOUNCEMENT.

At the close of the afternoon session of the Board of Trade today, the following announcement was read:

□"Gentlemen: We have assurances of ample funds to meet all calls upon us by tomorrow morning, and request that no trades with us be closed out. Respectfully,

"C. J. KERSHAW & Co."

This firm will be recognized as the leading brokers for the clique. The announcement did much to strengthen the feeling at the close of 'Change, and it is believed that the banks, in order to protect themselves, have come to the assistance of Kershaw, in order to prevent a further decline tomorrow.

IN OTHER CITIES.

Several Failures in Milwaukee--The Panic in New York.

MILWAUKEE, June 14.—The announcement of the sudden drop in wheat in the leading grain centers caused intense excitement here. Three failures have been announced, viz: Frank Wilson, James Wilde and Hill, Fleitzheim & Co. The Milwaukee branch of C. J. Kershaw & Co., of Chicago, Hooker, Crittenden & Co., closed out their trades. Their failure depends on the ability of the Kershaw crowd to meet all their obligations.

A BAD BREAK AT NEW YORK.

NEW YORK, June 14.—As a result of the heavy decline at the West the local wheat market suffered a bad break, and there was considerable excitement and pressure to sell. The early months' options are the weakest. The June and July months are weakest, being down fully 1¼ to 1½ cents.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Wheat continued nervous, the extreme decline being 4⅛ cents on July. June comes next with a break of 3 cents, and the off months with an irregular decline of 1@1⅝ cents. Option dealings reached nearly 30,000,000 bushels, the largest ever recorded.

NO SESSION AT SAN FRANCISCO.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—Some time ago the directors of the Call Board announced that after a certain date it should be understood that California wheat only was the article to be delivered on contracts, unless otherwise specified. A meeting was called this morning to discuss the matter. The board was sustained by a large majority. Trading in Oregon or any other wheat, raised outside of California, is not prohibited by this rule. The contracting parties are simply required to state the particular kind of wheat they desire to buy or sell. In consequence of the directors' meeting there was no session of the Call Board today.

AT CINCINNATI.

CINCINNATI, June 14.—The very general impression that Cincinnati furnished a large part of the clique which were charged with managing the Chicago wheat deal, turned attention in this direction today. When the panic in wheat in Chicago developed very strongly, the Cincinnati members of the clique vanished from all attempts to locate them.

THE JUBILEE RACE.

Twelve Yachts Start Under Very Favorable Auspices.

LONDON, June 14.—[By Cable and the Associated Press.] The Jubilee yacht race around Great Britain and Ireland began today. The yachts were started by the Prince of Wales at south end, at the mouth of the Thames. The starters were the Aline, Sleuth-hound, Dawn, Dauntless, Genesta, Aremore, Mabel Valauvent, Atlantis, Gwendolen, Bridesmaid and Helene.

Among the twelve yachts that started none are of first-class reputation, except the Genesta. The others, well-known, however, are the Sleuth-hound, Aline and Gwendolen. A host of crafts of all sizes and descriptions thronged the channel when the race started. The weather was brilliant, with a moderate wind blowing.

The Mules Perished.

ST. LOUIS, June 14.—The stables of the Mound City street railway was burned this morning. Three hundred and fifty mules were consumed. Loss, $50,000.

DIVORCED.

Mrs. Porter Ashe Secures a Decree—Copy of the Document—Little Alma in Mrs. Crocker's Care.

By Telegraph to The Times.

SACRAMENTO, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] Judge Armstrong on Saturday last granted Amy Ashe a divorce from R. Porter Ashe. On what grounds could not be learned, as the matter has been kept very quiet. Mrs. E. B. Crocker has legally adopted Alma Porter Ashe.

In regard to granting the divorce with closed doors, Judge Armstrong stated that he has a rule that when either parties to an action of this character request that it should be done he will so order. So far as he was concerned the proceedings were above board. It was not his fault that the clerk did not enter his orders.

ASHE RECEIVED NOTHING.

A personal friend of Mrs. Ashe, and who had a chat with Mrs. Crocker after the divorce was granted, stated there was no truth in the rumor that Porter Ashe was given $100,000 to consent to the divorce. "She had him in the door," said he, "and he had to submit. He did not receive a penny," said Mrs. Ashe's friend. It is thought here that all the proceedings instituted in Los Angeles about the child Alma were a scheme to attract attention away from this city, so that a quiet divorce could be had without attracting attention. Directly after Mrs. Ashe was granted the divorce she used her maiden name, Amy C. Crocker, by appending her signature to a check. It is stated that Ashe will go into partnership with Thomas Williams, of Grand Island, in the horse business.

A COPY OF THE DECREE.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 14.—The following is the decree of divorce in the Ashe case:

"Amy C. Ashe vs. Richard P. Ashe, decree entered June 11, 1887. This cause having been heretofore tried and submitted to the court for adjudication and decision, and this court having rendered its decision in writing ordering judgment in favor of the plaintiff and against the defendant, it is now, therefore, hereby ordered, adjudged and decreed that the marriage heretofore existing between the plaintiff, Amy C. Ashe, and the defendant, Richard Porter Ashe, be and the same is hereby dissolved and said plaintiff and defendant be and each of them is hereby freed from the bonds of matrimony and all obligations thereof, with the right to plaintiff, Amy C. Ashe, to resume her maiden name. It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that there is no community of property of said marriage."

NOTES FROM ABROAD.

Hopeful View of the Condition of the German Crown Prince.

LONDON, June 14.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The Pall Mall Gazette prints an interview with Dr. Mackenzie, in which the latter adheres to the opinion that the swelling in the throat of the German Crown Prince is simply a warty growth. The doctor authorizes the announcement that unless some change occurs the Prince will be absolutely restored to good health.

BISMARCK'S POOR HEALTH.

BERLIN, June 14.—Bismarck's condition has become worse. He is afflicted with rheumatic pains, which prevent sleep. His doctors advise rest and change of climate. His illness, however, prevents traveling at present.

HAILSTONES WEIGHING A POUND.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, June 14.—Hailstones, strangely-shaped, pointed, and weighing over a pound each, recently fell in the districts of Aitos and Carnabat, between Adrianople and Shumla, on the south slope of the Balkan Mountains, in East Roumelia. The hailstones destroyed harvests, killed many laborers and cattle in the fields and pierced the roofs of houses like bullets.

THE NEW SERVIAN PREMIER.

BELGRADE, June 14.—M. Ristico, the new Premier of Servia, is a man of strong pro-Russian sympathies. His elevation is considered a check to Austria and a gain for Russia in the Balkans.

THE DOMINION.

Winnipeg Still Closed to the Grand Trunk Railway.

OTTAWA (Ont.), June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] At a meeting of the House of Commons Committee on Agriculture and Emigration this afternoon a lively discussion took place on the statement of Lowe, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, that American consular agents in Canada were quiet but active immigration agents for the United States. Several members denied this and said that the real immigration agent for the United States in Canada was the Grand Trunk Railway, which by being kept out of the Northwest offered inducements to immigrants to travel over its line

Watson, a Manitoba member, thereupon moved that in the opinion of the committee the settlement of Manitoba would be promoted by allowing the Grand Trunk entrance into Winnipeg. The resolution was declared lost by two votes. The Liberals protested against four of the votes, but the chairman would not reopen the subject.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—[Special.] The selection of a postmaster for Los Angeles rests between E. A. Pruess and Mr. Schrader, with the chances in favor of the former. It is expected that the appointment will be made this week.

THE TELEPHONE SCANDAL.

WASHINGTON, June 14.—[By the Associated Press.] The Board of Directors of the American Telephone Company appointed a committee to thoroughly scrutinize the company's affairs. Tyrer, the secretary, who, it was discovered, has been twice imprisoned for forgery, resigned and gave the treasurer a power of attorney over his stock. Congressman Butterworth, president of the company, said that the discovery of Tyrer's former criminal practices had been a great surprise to the other officers of the company. He declared that the Venezuela charter held by the company was a valuable one, and that the stockholders need have no fear.

THE NEW CRUISERS.

The Board of Examiners have completed their report on designs for cruisers and gunboats, submitted by naval experts in response to a circular from the Navy Department offering $15,000 for the best design of each type of vessel. The report will be made public in a few days.

The board which was appointed by Secretary Whitney to select suitable designs for a 6000-ton armored cruiser, and an armed vessel of the same size from competitive designs received in answer to the department's offer of $10,000 each for two acceptable plans, have made its report. The board approves the design for an armored battle-ship submitted by the Barrow (of England) Ship Building Company.

APPOINTMENTS.

The President made the following appointments today: Henry S. Lubbock, of California, to be Supervising Inspector of steam vessels for the first district of San Francisco; Hyman Abram, of Oregon, to be Collector of Customs for the district of Willamette, Oregon.

Sour Grapes.

[San Diego Union.]

J. C. Stubbs, general traffic manager of the Southern Pacific Company, in an interview with a LOS ANGELES TIMES reporter the other day, was reported as follows:

"What do you think of San Diego?"

"Los Angeles is the place. San Diego can never be the city that this is at the present time. It will be a good hospital after awhile, but it has no country to back it, while Los Angeles has the garden spot of the world at her very gates."

"When will your people have a road running into San Diego?"

"Whenever there is business enough to justify it. There are several of the biggest humbugs that were ever sprung on any people now under headway in that city, and, if they fall through, the place will fall back to what it was a few years ago. They want water, and cannot get it."

Mr. Stubbs ought to be candid and own up to sour grapes. What bothers the Southern Pacific Company now is that they let the enterprising Santa Fé people into San Diego ahead of them. Another thing that bothers them is the fact that where the Santa Fé goes it deals with the people so fairly that they (the people) become indifferent as to the coming of competing lines. So far as the Southern Pacific is concerned, the fact of the present situation is, as one of their officials recently said, that they don't know what to do. The Santa Fé has outgeneraled them at every point in Southern California. In the language of the official referred to, "We have allowed the Santa Fé to take ten millions of dollars away from us in Southern California." Mr. Stubbs is indiscreet. San Diego may quote his own words back at him some day, and then Mr. Stubbs will wish he had said something else or nothing. When the Santa Fé people came to San Diego they found no lack of business to justify their coming. But then the Santa Fé people have a way of going into a country and developing business, and the Southern Pacific people seem to be incapable of learning the secret.

Sulky San Francisco.

[Sun.]

It is well enough to ask for what we want, but we are seldom justified in sulkily refusing to play because we are unable to get it. The committee in charge of the proposed Fourth of July celebration in this city will not win public esteem by making the defection of the militia the excuse for abandoning everything, like a spoiled child deprived of a stick of candy. The militia are great and beautiful, but they are not indispensable. The encampment is a settled fact, and as the National Guard is to do its parading elsewhere, the obvious course for us is to see what we can do without it.

Ought to Advise with Stoneman.

[San Francisco Post.]

The talk of an extra session of Congress still continues, and it is reported that a conference meeting will be held at Washington shortly after the return of the President from his vacation trip. Before the gentlemen who are prominent in this movement come to a decision they should consult ex-Gov. Stoneman, who, like the hero of "Locksley Hall," is "full of sad experiences" of extra sessions and their consequences.

Henri's Common Sense.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

The South Carolinians who objected to listening to Cable, because they do not agree with certain views of his, were exceedingly foolish, and, in like manner, bit their noses to spite their faces, and the same may be said of the Mississippi boys who dropped out of the procession in Washington because a company of negroes marched ahead of them.

Incorporated.

Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by the Pacific Water Company. The purpose is to acquire water and water-rights, and sell the same, in the San Gabriel Valley. The directors are H. H. Markham, L. W. Dennis, Nelson Vanderslip and C. H. Bradley. Capital stock, $800,000; all subscribed.

The Mateo-street and Santa Fé-avenue Street Car Company was also incorporated yesterday. The object is to construct and operate a street-car line over the following route: Beginning at a point on Second street and thence running via Rio street, Mateo street and Santa Fé avenue to the city limits. The directors are: A. C. Hiscock, Charles A. Smith, H. M. Ames, S. D. Northcutt, J. O. Lotspeich, S. P. Rees and M. L. Wicks. Capital stock, $12,000; all subscribed.

Saved His Life.

Last night Joe Smith and two companions were walking on the California Southern Railroad track near the covered bridge, when an engine came along and knocked Smith about fifteen feet. He was picked up and taken to the police station by Officer Loomis. Dr. Cole examined him, but could find no bruises. He was very drunk, and that probably saved his life.

Another Rumor.

It is again reported that the Southern Pacific line from Ramona to the Raymond will be continued over to Raymond and Pasadena, Huntington, Sierra Madre, Arcadia, Monrovia, Duarte, Azusa, Glendora, San Dimas, Lordsburg and on to San Bernardino. As the Southern Pacific has built more miles on paper than it has inches in fact, in the last few years, the rumor isn't apt to cause much excitement.

BUSINESS TOPICS.

MAIN STREET.

Its Remarkable Growth Southward.

Daddy Nolan was undoubtedly a success, but will hardly compare with that which has attended the sale of the property in the Dimmick and Mandsly tracts. It has advanced in price with a rapidity that has only been equaled by Sixth street and the city front, with, perhaps, the addition of the Judson & Longstreet property on Figueroa street, where lots are now selling at prices varying from $2900 to $4000. One year ago these could have been bought for less than half that sum, and the same conditions will undoubtedly adhere in the former tracts, as they are situated on Main street, adjacent to the street cars, which advantage, in connection with the beautiful orange and walnut trees, with which they are covered, will always make them a desirable place of residence. Cement sidewalks are now being put down, and a number of fine residences are contracted to be built. Naramore, Dennison & Co., of 34 West First street, who are so favorably known in connection with the Dennison and Fair Oaks tract of Pasadena and the Victor Heights and other tracts in this city, have some very choice lots in these tracts at prices varying from $775 upward, which are offered, for this week only, at these prices. All indications clearly show that business is rapidly extending down South Main, and property in that direction will always be a safe purchase.

A Specific for Croup.

Mr. J. J. LaGrange, a prominent druggist of Avoca, Neb., says: "I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a specific for Croup. It is very pleasant to take, which is one of the most important requisites where a cough remedy is intended for use among children. I have known of cases of spasmodic croup where I know the life of a little one was saved by the use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy." Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

MR. C. H. Shawan, Wellsville, Kan., says: "It is with pleasure that I can speak of the good Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhœa Remedy has done in my family during the last thirteen years. In the most obstinate cases of summer complaint and diarrhœa among my children it acts as a charm, making it never necessary to call in a physician. I can truthfully say that it is my judgment, based on years of experience, that there is not a medicine in the market that is its equal as a family remedy, and that I will never keep house without a bottle of it in my possession." Sold by C. H. Hance, 77 and 79 North Spring street.

Riverside.

DEDICATION—NEW CHURCHES AND SCHOOLS.

RIVERSIDE, June 12.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The fine new church just completed for the Congregational Society was dedicated yesterday. The interest in the exercises brought out a crowd so great that the building could not accommodate it. The fine pipe-organ built for the church by George S. Hutchings, of Boston, was in charge of Kenneth Hendry, whose playing was most pleasing. The exercises were participated in by all the clergymen of the city, including the Universalist and Methodist pastors, and were as follows: Organ voluntary, followed by a chant by a full choir; reading of scriptures in concert by pastor and congregation; invocation by Rev. Mr. Button, of the Baptist Church; hymn by the choir; formal transfer of the house by G. W. Garcelon, of the Building Committee, to E. Caldwell, Chairman of Church Trustees; anthem by the choir, with solo by Miss Agnes Overton; offering of house to the Lord—concerted reading by congregation; prayer of dedication by the pastor, Rev. T. C. Hunt; hymn; sermon by Rev. F. H. Frary, formerly of Weymouth, Mass. The sermon was able, practical and interesting, and argued the necessity for carrying religion into all the affairs of life. The concluding prayer was by Rev. Mr. Stuart, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church. The choir then gave a rousing anthem, "Except the Lord Build the House," after which the doxology and benediction by Rev. Mrs. Gillan, of the Methodist Church, concluded the exercises. The pastor and people are to be congratulated on the completion of so beautiful and well-appointed a church; and still more upon the fact that the whole, valued at $25,000, is free from debt. This result is due to the efforts of the people, inspired by the enthusiasm and self-sacrificing spirit of their pastor.

The example of the Congregational Church appears to be contagious, for steps are now being taken for the erection of four new churches in Riverside within a year. The foundation of the new Catholic Church is already laid, and that of the Episcopal Church—to be 60x45 feet in dimensions—is shortly to be laid. A second Presbyterian society has just been organized and they are planning for the costly building of a church, while the Universalists, outgrowing their present chapel accommodations, are looking about for a better site, with the intent to put up something more creditable in the shape of a building for worship, and which they promise shall be one of the best in the city.

The unanimous reëlection of a school trustee who has most prominently advocated the erection of a $50,000 High and Grammar-school building, is taken as an evidence that the bonds will be nearly unanimously voted, and a school building erected such as no other small city can boast.

These movements indicate the strength of our "boom," which, as you will see, runs rather to churches and schools than to the increase of saloons.

WALLACE.

The Ballona Branch.

SOMETHING ABOUT THAT LINE AND THE PORT OF BALLONA.

BALLONA, June 13.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] The extension of the California Central line to Ballona leaves the Oceanside line a short distance out, branches in a northwesterly direction through orchards of oranges, and fields of vines and runs through the great Centinela ranch, owned by D. Freeman, and La Ballona rancho, owned by Louis, finally reaching the sea at Lake Ballona, a distance of seventeen miles from Los Angeles.

The first stop out of this city will be near the place where it crosses the Southern Pacific line to San Pedro, on what is now known as the "Hay Tract." Here the company intend building a creditable depot, the plans for which are already drawn. The company will also put in many sidetracks and lay out a suburban town, which will be only ten minutes' ride from the First-street Depot.

The Nadeaus will also erect a large winery, and a siding will be extended upon the Nadeau property for their own private use.

From this place on stops are made every mile through the thickly-settled portion of the country until "Hyde Park" is reached, which, situated on an elevated plateau overlooking the whole surrounding country, makes a beautiful townsite. The next stop is at the ranch of D. Freeman, and we then soon glide "down by the sad sea waves."

Now we can see wherein lies our great benefits to come by the Ballona line. Undoubtedly there will be a steamer line from this point to San Francisco, which will materially cheapen freights and fares and do away with the enormous lighterage that is now such a burden to our people on goods that come via San Pedro. Lumber can be put into Ballona already, and is being so placed now for $20 per 1000 feet for rough, and dearer in proportion. A steam schooner arrived on the 12th of this month with ties for the Ballona road and 50,000 more ties are to be landed at Ballona within the next sixty days.

The steam dredger La Ballona is ready for business within a few weeks. Large lumberyards will be established at Ballona and Hyde Park, at which lumber can be sold far below present ruling prices.

The Santa Fé Company are now in negotiation for the carrying of the Australian mails, and it is hoped they can carry them via Port Ballona, that route to Barstow, Albuquerque, Halstead and St. Louis being fifty miles shorter via San Diego, and 125 miles shorter than via San Francisco and Chicago to New York.

Orange.

NEW BANK—AN INVITING AND PROSPEROUS TOWN.

ORANGE, June 10.—[Correspondence of THE TIMES.] Several matters of business called me to this beautiful location today, and I am most favorably impressed with the town and country. The citizens are a refined, intelligent, enterprising class of people. This is manifest, in a great degree, in the care with which the town of Orange is laid out. The plaza is both unique and beautiful.

I am very sure that Orange is to be in the near future one of the best business towns and the handsomest place in this county. The conditions are all here to make it so. They have the most beautiful natural roads, an abundance of the purest water, and a most fertile soil. Orange is the home of the raisin grape.

The new Bank of Orange, with its $100,000 capital, is now at home in its fine new building. George J. Hasbough, cashier of the Bank of Orange, with its $100,000 capital, is now at home in its fine new building. George J. Hasbough

C. Z. Culver, who has done very much for Orange, is almost ready to open his fine hotel, the Palmyra, a beautiful structure, and first-class in every respect. It would be an ornament to any town in Southern California.

The grade of the Santa Fé road is completed through the town, and trains will be running to Orange in thirty days. The depot is put a nice distance from the business center.

We predict that Orange will wake up with a wonderful boom one of these days.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE.

Walking or Flying.

A CORRESPONDENT WHO THINKS THAT MEN WILL YET LEARN TO FLY.

LOS ANGELES, June 14.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The multiplication of means of locomotion is one of the marked features of our age. It is only in its infancy as far as practical results are concerned. The writer, in his investigations into electric railway construction, found that it was quite possible at a rate of speed of 100 miles per hour, to safely cross a gap with a railway train without a bridge. Of course the weight of the train would have to be known exactly to the engineer in order to regulate his speed. Whether it will ever be advisable or necessary to use this airy bridge, is another matter. Undoubtedly railway construction is just in its infancy, as far as the safety of passengers is concerned. But it is evident that railway trains, as well as human beings, can safely fly under proper conditions. Given the requisite velocity, and there is no difficulty or danger in passing an open space with a heavy train of cars. This has been demonstrated by actual trial. The problem of flying by man himself has not been so satisfactorily proven. However, that will be done in time. All that is needed is the will and a sufficient courage to enable the human birds to launch themselves in air. But there will have to be some other regimen and training used in order to fit them for aerial locomotion than has yet been applied. The late Bulwer Lytton in his "Coming Race," foretells the existence of flying men and women, and claims this continent as their habitation. Now, I know of no place as favorable as this for putting the theory into practice. It can be done safely on the plains near the ocean, and the new fledged birds can alight in the water. This would avoid the accidents of bone-breaking that might occur if all the trials were made on land alone. A pair of wings, that are of sufficient size to sustain an ordinary person, could be constructed so as to swing as the sword swings in its scabbard, until needed; then by inserting the arms in the sheaths, the wings can be put in motion, just as the same are used to propel one in the water when swimming. To obtain a momentum sufficient to carry one off the ground, a slide or incline might have to be used at first. But the human bird would soon develop speed enough in running to make the start without the incline.

All this will come, however, as the bicycle has—by stages. The human birds must train themselves to the utmost condition of efficiency in physical exercises before any attempts at flying will be likely to succeed.

How often have we heard some ambitious person exclaim, "Oh, how I wish I could fly!" That is a perfectly laudable desire, and sooner or later it will be realized.

F. M. SHAW.

Magazines vs. Books.

[Henry Holt in The Writer.]

In view of this, then, begins to come up the question: "Will the coming man read books?"

Well, one is not as ready to set up for a prophet when he has been out of college twenty-five years as he is before he cracks the college egg-shell, but I will risk it so far as to say that the knowledge of the future is going to be stored much more generally than the knowledge of the present is, in vast sets of bound periodicals with elaborate indexes. The drift in that direction is very plain in the libraries now. It does not seem probable that the number of periodicals can ever be so great relatively to the number of people as that of books now is. There are only about a dozen that supply any literature worthy of the name—I mean non-technical literature. Of books of similar character there are published every year many hundreds. But books do not average a sale of 1000 apiece. Probably not one in a year sells 50,000. We have now three good magazines selling far more than 100,000 a month. If each copy of such a magazine displaced a copy of a book, these three magazines would in a year kill off 5,000,000 books. Of course they do not kill off that many books, but they kill a great many.

Now note the effect on the character of literature. The books that are killed are, of course, mainly those that are least fit to survive. On the other hand, the literature furnished by the periodicals is, on the whole, the best of its kind, for the enormous circulation possible to the magazines enables them to pay the author better than books alone can.

Cheap, Choice, Near-by Acre Property.

The odd blocks in the Providencia ranch, located west of and near the town of Burbank, embracing forty acres each, will be placed on the market at the office of the company, No. 12 South Spring street, on Monday morning, June 6th, at $100 per acre, which is lower, considering the quality of land and its near-by location, than any land now offered in Los Angeles county.

Burbank.

Only fifteen minutes' ride by the Southern Pacific Railroad, and one hour's ride through a fine valley by carriage, commanding a fine view of Los Angeles, on the south, and a superb view of the entire San Fernando Valley on the north. HAY, STRAW, & WOOL PRESS

READ THE FOLLOWING:

EL CAJON, San Diego Co., Cal., Aug. 1, 1885.

Whitman Agricultural Co., St. Louis, Mo.—GENTLEMEN: We have pressed 400 tons with our "Improved Whitman's Hay Press" this season, in 18x22 press, in about two months' running. We have pressed from eight to fourteen tons a day in grass hay; from eight to ten tons a day with ease. We have pressed in grain hay eight tons in six hours, just to see what the press would do. In grain hay the bales run from 180 to 240 pounds. We have pressed 190 pounds with ten feeds, which the Dederick press cannot do, because their feed-box is not so large as ours. The bales made by our Whitman press are much smoother and more sightly than bales made by the Dederick press. We have pressed twenty bales an hour, averaging 150 pounds to the bale, in wild oats hay. We pressed hay this year upon the same ranch where the Dederick Over Circle press baled last year. Their bales weighed 85 to 125 pounds; our bales weighed 125 to 190 pounds. In testimony that the foregoing statement is true, the under signed crew running the "Whitman Improved Perpetual Hay Press" belonging to Gregg Bros., El Cajon, San Diego county, Cal., have hereunto set our hands and seals the day and date first above written. $22.00 for a $75.00 High-Arm Sewing-Machine

And The Weekly Mirror.

THE MIRROR

Perfect and Improved High-Arm Sewing-Machine

For $22 this machine and WEEKLY MIRROR, postage paid, for one year.

This machine is the first of its kind ever offered the public at factory prices, and cannot be bought from agents for less than the regular selling price, $75. It is the high-arm pattern, has self-setting needle; cannot be run backward; has automatic cut-off for driving belt, which prevents it from being run backward, thus avoiding all dangers of breaking thread or needles. It is a noiseless, light-running machine, accompanied by an illustrated book of instructions that makes everything so plain and simple that any lady or child can master it. We call it the MIRROR HIGH-ARM SEWING MACHINE, and we warrant it to give full and entire satisfaction in every case, or it may be returned to us within ten days after the subscriber has received the same, if it fails to be as respresented, at our expense, and the money will be refunded.

The above cut represents our HIGH-ARM MIRROR SEWING MACHINE, the very latest improved machine of the high-arm style; a complete embodiment of all the most recent improvements in sewing machine mechanism; a model selected by us after a careful and critical examination and test of the various machines in the market.

Having arranged with the manufacturers to supply us with these machines in large quantities for spot cash at or very near first cost, we can save our subscribers at least $35 on the price of each machine. As this is the first time a sewing machine of this character has been offered to the public at about manufacturer's cost, we feel confident our readers will promptly take advantage of this opportunity to provide themselves with first-class high-arm machines, which obtained in any other way would cost them almost three times the amount.

We could fill several columns expatiating on the merits of this high-arm machine, but to save the reader's patience we will simply say that it contains all the modern improvements, is strong, simple, durable, light-running and noiseless.

OUTFIT—Each machine is supplied with the following outfit: One Hemmer and Feller (one piece), Twelve Needles, Six Bobbins, One Wrench, One Quilting Gauge, One Screw Driver, Oil Can filled with Oil, Cloth Gauge and Thumb-screw and a Book of Directions. The following extra attachments are also furnished free: Ruffler, Tucker, Binder, Set of Wide Hemmers and Shirring Plate.

The regular retail price of this machine is $75. Our price with a year's subscription to the WEEKLY MIRROR is only $22.

Knowing the character of the machine and the high grade of material and workmanship entering into its construction, we have no hesitation in agreeing to return the money at once to any subscriber who is not fully satisfied on examination that our high-arm machine is fully equal to our representations, we paying freight on return of the machine.

CAUTION—Sewing machine agents will tell you, "Beware of Cheap machines." We tell you buy the high-arm machine on trial, and if not satisfactory return it. No agent can sell you its equal for less than $75. Each part of the machine is fitted with such exactness that no trouble can arise if any part is broken, for a new piece can be supplied with an assurance of a perfect fit.

The High-Arm Machine is carefully packed and shipped by freight from Chicago.

Freight charges are to be paid at point of delivery by the subscriber.

Give shipping directions plainly, as well as the postoffice address the paper is to be sent to.

☞ The LOS ANGELES DAILY TIMES—Any person desiring the Daily and this Sewing Machine can have the same by mail for $29.

HOW TO ORDER.

When you remit us the $22 for the Machine and WEEKLY MIRROR one year, write plainly the point the machine is to be shipped to, as well as the postoffice the paper is to be sent to. The machine should be ordered to the nearest railroad point where the railroad company has an agent stationed, and the name of railroad station, the county and State should be stated. When $22 are sent for the WEEKLY MIRROR one year and the machine, the freight charges from the factory are to be paid by the subscriber at the point Machine is delivered to.

We would advise subscribers to order machine sent by freight, as the freight charges are about one-third to one-fourth of express charges; and while the time taken in the carrying of the machine is a little longer, they go just as securely and safely as by express. The machines will be shipped direct from the manufactory (Chicago), all set up ready for use. The money must accompany order. Address,

"SUPERIOR IN SOME RESPECTS TO THE BEST.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 20, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: My wife and daughter are well pleased with your Times-Mirror Sewing-Machine. They have used several of the best makes of machines and yet say your machine is superior in some respects to those they have used, and in no way inferior. They were at first afraid, as many are, no doubt, that it is too cheap to be first-class, but are now satisfied that it is as good as machines costing three or four times as much. Yours truly,

S. A. MATTISON.

"TIGHTENED THE SCREW AND SHE RUN ALL RIGHT."

NEWHALL, Cal., Nov. 3, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: Yours of the 1st inst. received. Will say in reply that soon after I wrote you I discovered the cause of the trouble. The little tension screw in the shuttle had worked loose and was nearly out, and the shuttle thread, in sewing fast, would catch on the screw and break. I tightened the screw and it now works like a charm; no more breaking thread or irregularity of stitch.

Very respectfully, L. A. MYERS.

"ONE OF THE BEST INVESTMENTS THEY EVER MADE."

ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: We received our High-Armed Sewing-Machine in good order, and I am very much pleased with it, and consider it one of the best investments we ever made. It is nicely finished, and runs strong and light, doing nice work. Any one needing a good machine I do not think can do better than invest $22 in the machine and MIRROR. Respectfully yours,

MRS. U. L. SHAFFER.

"MORE THAN SATISFIED AND GLADLY RECOMMENDS IT."

ORANGE, Cal., Oct. 22, 1886.

Times-Mirrors Company: I thank you for sending to u for testimonials, as I have sat my new machine in the parlor, without even threading it, as I was very busy and had a good machine ready for work and used to running. So I did not take time to do anything with the new one until I received your letter. Then I brought mine and went to running it to test it. I was more than satisfied, and gladly recomend it to those in need of a machine. I think I would have gained time to have used it long ago. Our little girl wants to write a lette to Mrs. Otis for the children's column. S if it is not worthy of a place there, just dro it in the waste-basket please. As ever,

MARTHA M. SHAFFER.

"EQUAL TO ANY $65 MACHINE."

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19, 1886.

Times-Mirror Company: For the benefi of those who stand in need of a good sewing-machine, I will say, that after using the Premium Machine for about four months, I find it equal to any $65 machine I have seen. Yours, etc.,

MRS. A. W. WORM,
Corner Ocean and Oak Los Angeles

BUSINESS.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES, LOS ANGELES, Tuesday, June 14.

Dispatches announce the collapse of the gigantic Wheat combination that has ruled the Chicago market for the past few weeks. The result of the break-up, the details of which are given in the telegraph columns, had also a thoroughly demoralizing influence on the other eastern Grain markets. There was no session of the San Francisco Call Board today, in consequence of a meeting of the directors, and to this fact is probably due the absence of a panic in that city.

A dispatch from Chicago has the following resume of the market in that city for California products.

"Old Potatoes are scarce, and the market is firm, with higher prices. New Potatoes are in good request and choice stock is firm, but small and ubby. The receipts last week were a little larger than usual, a great part of the stock coming from the South. California Potatoes sell fairly well at $2.75 per 100 lbs. California Oranges are in plentiful supply, and rule dull. Fair to choice grades are quoted at $2@3 per box, but there is a good deal of poor stock on the market dull at 50c.@$1 per box. Choice California Apricots in ten-pound boxes sell at $3 per box. California sweet Cherries sell at $1@2.25 per ten-pound box, according to condition of stock."

A dispatch from New York says:

"The Coffee market is firmer and nearly 1 cent per pound higher. It is believed that the panic is over."

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, June 14.—Money on call, easy at 2@6½ per cent., last loan, 4; closed offered, 3.

Prime mercantile paper, 5@6.

Sterling exchange, dull at 4.81½ for 60 days; 4 86 for demand.

Government bonds dull and steady.

Dealings in stocks today, after the first hour, were on a much larger scale than has been seen for several weeks. The break in the wheat deal in Chicago this morning, following the excitement in the coffee market for the last few days, caused a great deal of excitement and apprehension among the smaller class of operators, who now hold most of the floating stock, and their efforts to realize upon their holdings gave the first impetus to the downward movement, which assumed larger proportions later in the day. Room traders, who at present are bearish almost to a man, joined in the selling movement, and so created a decided break. Wheeling and Lake Erie became the special point of attack, and on account of the locality of the trouble, grangers were also freely sold. Richmond and West Point was weak early in the day, but was better held on largely reduced business during the afternoon. Among the specialties Denver preferred, Oregon Navigation, Lake Erie and Western Union preferred and Hocking Coal were prominent for declines established in the last hour. A covering of shorts turned the tide, and a material recovery was made before the close, which was quiet and firm. The active stocks are almost all down this evening. Wheeling and Lake Erie is down 3½, Oregon Navigation 2½, Hocking Coal 1¼, Denver preferred 1⅝, Omaha 1¼, Lake Erie and Western preferred 1½, Tennessee Coal 1 per cent.

THE BEST PREMIUM OFFERED

By any Paper in the United States.

THE MOST PRACTICAL! THE MOST RELIABLE!

Everybody should have a copy of our "FAMILY PHYSICIAN."

This book contains 544 pages; is eight and one-half inches long, six inches wide and two inches thick. It is printed on extra heavy paper and is handsomely bound, with embossed cover and gilt-lettered back.

IT IS DIFFERENT FROM ALL OTHER WORKS OF THE KIND EVER PUBLISHED.

FIRST—It teaches those who have it how to tell what the matter is when some one gets sick. All similar books tell what to do—if you know what the disease is. THIS BOOK TELLS YOU HOW TO RECOGNIZE THE DISEASE, and then what to do for it. No other book published does this.

SECOND—When a person is really attacked by a dangerous disease, it enables you to know the fact, and in such cases its advice is, "Send for a competent physician at once." In all ordinary cases, such as can be cured without a doctor (and most of the ailments are of this kind, if only you could know them), it gives full directions for cure. The point is, that it teaches you the difference between a dangerous and a trifling disease, and tells you when it is necessary to call a doctor, and when it is not necessary to call a doctor. No other book published does this.

THIRD—It gives separately, and fully, each disease, the methods used by each of the different "schools of medicine," and in all cases the prescriptions are made by the most eminent men in their respective modes of practice. This makes the work specially adapted to the needs of every family, no matter what school of medicine they prefer—Allopathic, Homeopathic, Hydropathic, Eclectic or Herbal. NO OTHER BOOK PUBLISHED DOES THIS.

WE WILL SHOW YOU HOW IT DOES THIS

If you will call and see us.

The report of President Hanley for the past year was read. It gave the object of the association and the general resumé of the work so far accomplished by it.

Reading of report of secretary showing 541 officers and teachers in the county; 4201 scholars; total, 4742; average attendance, 3010. This is the record of thirty-eight schools reported, and quite a number have not reported at all. One hundred and fifty-six persons are known to have been added to churches from the Sunday-schools. This afternoon at 3 o'clock a grand praise service is to be held in the Pavilion. This is rather a new idea here, but thorough preparations have been made for it, and it is expected to have between 2000 and 3000 children participating in the singing exercises.

The programme for today is given below:

BALLONA.

Schooner Ashore—The Railroad Nearly Graded.

The schooner Montezuma, loaded with [illegible] for the Los Angeles and Santa Monica Railroad, went ashore on the beach outside Port Ballona during the high wind of Monday night. She is not badly damaged.

Contractor E. C. Burlingame yesterday sent ten teams and fifteen men down to Ballona to distribute ties along the roadbed. He has put his big force to work finishing up some patches in the grading, and will have the whole job complete in a week or two.

The steam schooner Alcatraz, which arrived Saturday, will make an effort to get off at high tide tonight. It is doubtful if she will succeed. The vessel is liable to be a total loss, although a greater part of the cargo may be saved. The crew got off safely.

GIRL GRADUATES.

Commencement Exercises of the Los Angeles College.

The First Presbyterian Church, corner of Fort and Second streets, was well filled last evening, the occasion being the commencement exercises of Los Angeles College. The choir rail and front were one mass of green in decorations, and above, in evergreen letters was the motto: "Omnia Possum" (I can do all things). Upon the pulpit platform were seated President Hanna and the to-be lady graduates. The first exercise of the evening was an instrumental selection upon five pianos, with the following title and ladies participating: Overture, "Die Stummis von Partici" (Auber)—Misses McCreery, Macy, Rives, Austin, Ellis, James Lyman, Waddingham and Innes.

Rev. A. J. Wells then came forward and invoked divine favor, and Miss Mary Chapin read an essay entitled "Vita Virgillis." This was read in Latin, very fluently, by the essayist.

Then followed a vocal trio, "The Violet," by Misses Hubbard, Russell and Macy. The young ladies have sweet voices and their rendition was well appreciated.

An essay, "The Old Masters and the Music of the Future," was read by Miss Frances McCreery. Miss McCreery, in her production, defined music, gave a short history of its development through Egypt and ancient Bible lands, and also its history in Germany and Italy. She then took up the old masters, Handel, Beethoven, and Haydn, analyzing their different styles, and spoke also of modern composers, Rubenstein, Schubert and others. She closed by speaking of the upward tendency of the influence of music and the good it had accomplished.

The duet, "La Traviata," on two pianos, by Misses McCreery and Macy, was the next on the programme.

Next came an essay, "The Era of Notes and Its Prophecy," by Miss Mary Macy. Miss Macy spoke of the relations of noise and sound, giving definitions. She then referred to the noiseless manner in which nature performed nearly all her work, in the distilling of dew, the blossoming of flowers and the movement of worlds, contrasting this with the noise which men create in carrying on their operations in commerce and manufactures. Attention was called to the fact that great changes come slowly, but that man had now begun to improve on his inventions by making them noiseless, and the day would probably come when he would work as nature works, without noise.

A vocal solo, "Dame Nightingale," very prettily sung by Miss Emma L. Hubbard.

The essay, "Beauty," was read by Miss Wynnie Wells. Miss Wells said that it was impossible to define beauty; that different classes have different ideas of what is beautiful and in what beauty consists. She cited the opinions and extracts from the works of Emerson, Poe, Goethe, Schiller, Moore, Wordsworth and others. Also the ideas of different races, and spoke of the elevating influence of beauty upon the mind.

The following selections were then given: Overture (a), "Tancred," Rossini; (b), "William Tell," Schmidt; (c), "Soldiers' Chorus," Schubert. Chorus, "Hunting Song," Faderlein, Misses Hubbard, Boutwell, Embody, Macy, Russell, Forrester, Ellis and Saxton.

Rev. J. W. Chichester made the announcement of the Remick prizes, given by Gen. D. Remick, of Lincoln, Neb., as follows: General excellence, Miss Sarah Innes; deportment, Miss Margaret Anderson first, Miss Margaret Nevin second prize.

Honorable mention, Misses Mabel Guinn, Hattie Craig, Nellie Craig, Millie Richards, Rachel Adams, Agnes Kremer, Mary Robertson, Annie Henderson.

Deportment prizes in primary department, Bessie Bryan first, Mabel Garnsey second, Mabel Hewes third prize.

First grammar prize, Bessie Tonner; second, Clara Heffner. Mention was also made of the winners in the memory contest.

President Hanna then delivered the graduating address, in which he spoke of the faithfulness and perseverance of the students whose school course was now finished; of the knowledge they had obtained, and gave them wise counsel as to its use in their future lives. On the part of the trustees and faculty of the college he presented diplomas to Misses Wynnie Wells and Mary Macy in the literary course and Miss Frances McCreery in the musical course.

All of the young lady performers received numerous bouquets and baskets of flowers during the evening from loving friends. The benediction pronounced ended the pleasant exercises.

AN OMISSION.

Why Gen. Mathews and Staff Did Not Parade.

A good many people wondered why Gen. J. R. Mathews and his staff did not appear in the Memorial day procession. The following correspondence explains:

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—To John R. Mathews, Brig.-Gen. First Brigade, N.G.C.—GENERAL: At a full meeting of the joint Memorial day committee from the three Posts of this city, it was unanimously voted that the National Guard of California stationed here be invited to act as escort to the Grand Army in their parade on Memorial day, May 30, 1887. Through some misapprehension, misconception or misunderstanding of the intent of this vote, in endeavoring to carry out the wishes of the committee, the invitation was sent to Maj. Russell instead of to yourself. The committee were not apprized of this fact until too late to remedy the mistake which had been made. The members of the committee are unanimous in their expressions of regret at this blunder, and in their assurance that there can be no warmer feeling of friendship existing between parties than does exist between the entire membership of the Grand Army here and yourself, and of a full appreciation of your many kindnesses to us in the past.

We ask you to accept the sincere apology of this committee for this seeming though entirely unintentional slight. Very respectfully,

E. P. JOHNSON, Chairman.
J. L. SKINNER, Secretary pro tem.

LOS ANGELES, June 13.—Capt. E. P. Johnson, Chairman—DEAR SIR: I am just in receipt of your communication. In answer I will say: As one who has at all times by his acts and expressions endeavored to serve the G. A. R. and aid them in any possible manner, I accept for myself and staff your apology, and trust this will cause a continuance of past good feelings between the brigade staff and G. A. R. I am, sir, your obedient servant,

JOHN R. MATHEWS,
Brig.-Gen. First Brigade, N. G. C.

A BRUTAL ACT.

A Beastly Man Beats and Kicks a Young Girl.

Early yesterday afternoon five men (not Americans) were working on New High street, just back of the Rose block. The work being done is at the foot of the hill, and between 2 and 3 o'clock a girl, some 12 years of age, passed along on the side of the hill above the laborers. Suddenly one of the brutes dropped his shovel and sprang up the side of the hill to where the little girl was and struck her a heavy blow, knocking her down, and then proceeded to strike her as she lay on the ground. Not content with this, the fiend kicked her prostrate form two or three times, and leaving her lying there, came back down the hill. It was some minutes before the victim of the outrage was able to arise and take her way slowly up the hill. A police officer was sent for in a hurry. He arrived, but no trace of the girl could be found. When the lady who saw all this went down to identify the perpetrator of the act, only three men were found, and she could not tell that it was either of them. Neither of them professed to know anything of it, but said they had been annoyed by clods rolled down on them.

Wants It Sprinkled.

The Health Officer was in receipt of a curious postal card yesterday, complaining of the dusty condition of Banning street, and asking that the "wagon wich sprankel the street" might be sent there once a day.

Marriage Licenses.

Marriage licenses were issued yesterday to J. W. Taggart and K. E. Payne, Ira S. Sherman and Katie Crouse, David Strain and Josie Maxwell and J. Fitzgerald and M. N. Kennedy.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

FRANCISCO RUIZ ARRESTED FOR A MURDER

Committed Sixteen Years Ago Last Sunday—The Circumstances of the Crime—More Good Work by Aguirre and Arguello.

One of the remarkable instances which arise now and then in intermittent support of the oft-disproved aphorism that murder will out, has just come to a heading in this county. Yesterday one of our sharpest peace officers lodged in the County Jail a felon for a crime committed sixteen years ago, and long forgotten.

On the 12th day of June, 1871, there was a fiesta in the old town of Anaheim. Hundreds of native Californians were there, having a good time with all the energy of their race. Among them was Tomas Velardez (also spelled Belardes), a deputy constable, then a stout young paisano 31 years of age. It seems that the revelers were making pretty free use of stimulants, and an American came up to Velardez and asked him whether they were not selling contrary to law. Velardez conversed with the American in English, when a Mexican bystander named Verdugo said to Velardez in Spanish: "Now you are talking the dog language." "No, I am not," said Velardez. One word brought on another, and presently Verdugo felled Velardez to the ground with a club. While Velardez was prostrate, a paisano friend of Verdugo's, named Francisco Ruiz, rushed up and emptied his six-shooter into the body of Velardez and effected his escape on horseback. Eight hours later Velardez died.

The murderer went down into Mexico. Years passed, and at last he deemed it safe to return to California. He first came back to Anaheim two years ago, but directly drifted down to Lower California. Three days ago he returned from there and showed up in Anaheim. But the long lapse of years had not brought forgetfulness to all; and Ruiz had hardly time to sleep once before he was recognized by the sharp eyes of Manuel Velardez, a brother of the murdered man. He quietly came up to Los Angeles, swore out a warrant for Ruiz for murder committed sixteen years before, and bided his time. Monday afternoon Constable Martin G. Aguirre and Deputy Constable Alfredo Arguello started out on horseback for Anaheim. Reaching the town they laid low till nightfall, and then started out to hunt their man. He had left the house in which Manuel Velardez had found him, but was discovered at a secluded house near the depot. Aguirre was within two feet of him before Ruiz knew it. No resistance was offered, and after stopping over night at Anaheim Aguirre and Arguello came in yesterday with their important prisoner, who was locked up in the County Jail.

A ROUSER.

How the Benefit Base-Ball Game Panned Out.

The Police and Constable base-ball nines, who gave Mrs. H. A. Watson's Home for Stray Girls a rousing benefit at the Sixth-street grounds last Saturday, met in Justice Austin's courtroom last night at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. Watson and quite a number of spectators were present. Captain of Police Tyler called the meeting to order and stated that the object of the meeting was for the purpose of turning the funds over to Mrs. Watson and awarding the prizes. Chief of Police Skinner, who has acted as treasurer, read the following report: Receipts from assessments, $49; sale of tickets, $283.80. Total receipts, $332.80. Total expense, $87.85. Balance, $244.95. The chairman then arose and made a few remarks, when he handed Mrs. Watson a check for $244.95. In thanking the boys for their efforts Mrs. Watson said:

"To tender my sincere thanks to you for this generous donation to the Girls' Home would but poorly express my gratitude to you personally. You have not only added a generous contribution to those already made, but to me it means much more. The interest you have shown in the cause and the effort you have made to secure the money, leaving your places of business and giving your time and attention to it, shows how much you are interested in this, the greatest work we have yet undertaken in Southern California. Permit me to thank you in the names of the suffering ones, who today feel that the clouds are clearing away and the star of hope shines so brightly into their darkened lives; even now some have arisen to shake off the chains of sin and despair that have bound them. The need of such a home for girls no class of citizens realize so much as the officers, policemen and constables, and to you especially would I return thanks, not only for your generous gift to a worthy cause, but for the courtesy and kindness extended to me in my work for humanity. In every possible way you help to lighten the burden. It has been said by one of our great men: 'The monument I would desire when my life work is ended would be a word of kindness graven on a human heart, or if standing by my last resting-place some one could say he was my friend.' It is our privilege to rear a monument that shall be a blessing to humanity long years after our names are forgotten."

The chairman then called the captain of the winning nine, Ed Smith, and presented him with a large tin star, to which was attached a leather medal. The prize came from the press, and was to be given to the poorest pitcher or player, and the players selected Ed Smith. That gentleman smiled his usual good-natured smile and thanked his companions for their kindness. The chairman then stated that he was authorized to present Ed Smith, the captain of the winning nine, with a prize offered by the jewelers, Roth & Quarré. The prize was a fine silver card-receiver.

The best player, Alfredo Arguello, was presented with a $5 hat. Constable Hunter was presented with a box of cigars. J. Harry Conlan then stepped forward and presented A. E. Clarke, captain of the Police nine, with a fine silver-headed cane, for the interest Mr. Clarke took in the matter.

Ed Smith then presented the silver cake basket to Mrs. Watson for her Stray Girls' Home. The meeting then adjourned and Joseph Barker, the captain of the winning nine of the single and married men's game, played a week ago, stepped forward and presented Mrs. Watson with $85, the receipts of their game.

This closed the business and all went home happy.

CATARRH!

THROAT DISEASES, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA,

CONSUMPTION,

Together with diseases of the

EYE, EAR AND HEART,

Successfully treated by

M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M.D.,

M. C. P. S. O.,

No. 275 North Main Street,

A few doors south of the new postoffice, Los Angeles, Cal.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED.

This has been demonstrated in thousands of cases treated by

DR. WILLIAMS,

With his new system of Medicated Inhalations combined with proper constitutional remedies for the liver, stomach, blood, etc.

Probably no system of practice ever adopted has been so universally successful as that introduced by Dr. Williams for the cure of Catarrh, Throat Diseases, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

CATARRH.

Catarrh is often regarded by the patient as a cold in the head, and he often expresses his astonishment at his remarkable tendency to contract a fresh cold; indeed, he declares that he is scarcely free from one cold before he takes another, and oet he is always exceedingly careful; it is also a matter of surprise to him that the cold always seems to settle in the head and throat.

At times many of the symptoms of Catarrh may seem to abate, and the patient is led to hope that the disease is about to wear off; but another class of symptoms soon appears, and he learns to his horror that instead of recovery from the disease, it is somewhat changed in its character and has extended to the throat. A sense of weariness is sometimes felt in reading, speaking or singing, hoarseness at times occurs, a sensation of dryness is felt in the throat, or it appears that some foreign substance, as, for instance, a hair, obstructed the throat; there becomes a sense of languor and fatigue, the breath lessens upon a little exertion, a short, hacking cough, a peculiar sound in clearing the throat, a feeling as though there was not room enough in the chest to breathe; these and other symptoms occur after the disease has made considerable progress. Then it is a time when consumption is about to begin its dreadful work. Up to this time the progress of the disease may have been slow, and the patient may, in expressing his confident hope that it will "wear off," declare that he has had the catarrh for years, and has not seemed to become much worse, and trusts that he will "by-and-by" recover. But this delusion is the grand error which has peopled our cemeteries with consumptive forms, as all forms of catarrh end finally in consumption.

Inhalations are applicable in all diseases of the respiratory organs, but must be prepared for each individual case as they severally require.

By the employment of proper inhalation in the form of medicated vapor (not steam or spray) we are able to produce immediate and direct action upon the diseased surface in the pharynx and nasal passages, for air will find its way into the most remote and intricate cavities, where it is utterly impossible to make fluid applications. By these means every case can be cured.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the remedies at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance to business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in contracting and healing the cavities, which nothing else can do with the same success.

The very best references from those already cured.

CONSULTATION FREE.
